Mideast Accord Fails

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt and Israel have failed to reach agreement on a ceasefire line along the Suez Canal, but negotiators say they will meet again in the windswept desert 60 miles from Cairo to discuss the issue.

"The discussions have been useful," Gen. Ensis Sillasuo, the commander of the U.N. peacekeeping forces, told newsmen after the negotiators emerged Thursday evening from a tent near the Suez-Cairo road. Another session was set for today.

A blustering sandstorm whirled outside the tent as the two negotiators — Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Egypt's Suez front commander Gen. Mohamed Gamasy — conferred inside.

The key stumbling block in the talks continued to be disagreement over the drawing of a new cease-fire line as stipulated in the six-point accord worked out earlier this month during a visit to the Middle East by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Egypt claimed the Israelis made significant advancements after the first U.N. imposed cease-fire on Oct. 22 and has demanded that the Israeli forces return to where they were on that date.

But Israel said the positioning of the two armies on Oct. 22 cannot now be determined and has suggested the opposing forces return to their respective sides of the Suez Canal with a six-mile demilitarized zone on both banks.

The issue has taken up added significance since a return of the Israeli forces to what Egypt purports to be the Oct. 22 line would free the encircled Egyptian 3rd Army and force the withdrawal of Israeli soldiers from the Egyptian city of Suez.

Egypt and Israel completed their exchange of war prisoners Thursday as a final group of 166 Egyptian POWs flew to Cairo and 17 Israelis captured in the October war arrived in Tel Aviv.

Women soldiers who had awaited the Israeli POWs in a steady rain at Lod International Airport hugged and kissed the returning prisoners — 16 pilots and a tank commander. Four of the men were on stretchers when they arrived.

Egyptian authorities have kept newsmen away from the landing sites as their prisoners returned. In all 8,301 Egyptian prisoners were exchanged for 241 Israeli prisoners, an Israeli spokesman said.

The figures did not coincide with previously announced figures of prisoners held by both sides.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, citing the discrepancies, accused the Egyptians of killing some Israeli soldiers either in prison, during interrogation or on the way to prison camps.

"There is no doubt that some of the prisoners were healthy when they were taken captive yet didn't come back to us," Dayan said in an interview with the Israeli state radio. Israel said the bodies of several Israeli POWs who died in prison camps would be returned through the U.N. checkpoint at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road.

Meanwhile, Syria said today that an early exchange of war prisoners with Israel is "out of the question." Israel claims that Syria has 121 Israelis while it holds 368 Syrians and 16 Iraqis and Moroccans.

A Syrian communique issued in Damascus said any exchange of war prisoners would have to be made "within the framework of a total Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands."

Syria has refused to negotiate with the Israelis. An official of the International Red Cross said Thursday in Geneva that Syria has not supplied any names of Israeli prisoners and has not permitted Red Cross officials in Damascus to see them.

"We hope, and the Red Cross hopes, that the successful completion of the (Israel-Egypt) exchange will speed up a prisoner release with Syria," Dayan said Thursday. And Foreign Minister Abba Eban said at the United Nations that Israel would not negotiate with Syria until the prisoner issue is settled.

Elsewhere, King Hussein of Jordan said his country would be willing to accept international control of the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River if Israel withdraws from the area.

Israel captured the West Bank, including Jerusalem, in 1967. A U.N. resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal to pre-1967 boundaries.

Hussein, speaking only four days before the start of an Arab summit conference in Algeria, said Palestinians must be given the right of self-determination "without interference from anybody."

One highly qualified source said Hussein's reference to interference was notice that Jordan would be willing to abandon its claim to portions of the West Bank should Israel withdraw.

Employees Nabbed In Plant Thefts

Grand larceny charges have been filed against two Circleville men in connection with the theft of light bulbs from the local General Electric plant on E. Ohio St.

William Watson, 23, 202 Logan St. and Dennis Woods, 21, 225 Watt St., were arrested and charged in the theft. Both men were employed at the GE plant. They were booked at city jail and released on $5,000 bond pending their appearance in court.

In late October, Watson was observed taking a quantity of incandescent light bulbs from the plant property. He was called before company officials and admitted the theft. The stolen property was returned and Watson resigned his position at the plant.

On Nov. 2 Watson returned to the GE plant and was observed removing a quantity of fluorescent black light bulbs from the premises.

City police were notified and Sgt. Wes Barton and Ptl. Hugh Black went to the plant. After an investigation at the site, Watson was arrested and booked at city jail. Barton and GE officials met with County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt and two charges of grand larceny were filed against Watson.

Further investigation by Barton, Black and GE personnel implicated Woods and Watson in additional thefts from the plant.

Woods was arrested Nov. 13 and booked at the police department on a grand larceny charge.

City police and General Electric officials are continuing the investigation and further arrests are expected. So far police have recovered approximately $2,000 worth of the stolen property.

Kennedy Candidacy In 1976 Brings Democratic Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten years after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, his brother and political heir, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is under increasing political and family pressure to forego a 1976 presidential bid.

Many Democratic leaders across the country, interviewed in recent weeks, would prefer that the Massachusetts senator stay out of a 1976 race they hope will return their party to White House control.

They fear that the lingering impact of the Chappaquiddick incident, in which a secretary in Kennedy's car drowned, could counteract the gains they expect to receive from voter reaction to the Watergate scandals of the Nixon administration.

Nation's Traffic Toll Reaches 155

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's Thanksgiving holiday weekend traffic death toll reached 155 today.

Rain, snow or fog slowed highway travel in wide areas of the West and in parts of the midcontinent, South and East.

A Kennedy candidacy, they say, could create an unnecessary note of division in what most party leaders hope can be a relatively united Democratic party.

In addition, even before his 12-year-old son's right leg was amputated last week in an effort to arrest bone cancer, Kennedy was under strong family pressure to forego a 1976 race.

The senator revealed this in an interview, filmed before his son was stricken but shown Wednesday on NBC's "Today" show. He said, "My wife Joan and my sisters, mother and nieces and nephews are uniformly against" a 1976 candidacy but that he hasn't made up his mind and imagined they would back whatever decision he makes.

He is the sole survivor of four Kennedy sons, two of them assassinated in the presidency or its pursuit. He has considerable family responsibility with three children of his own as well as the 13 fatherless children of his two brothers nearing maturity.

It was this family situation that prompted Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to say on NBC's "Meet the Press" last Sunday that he hopes Kennedy doesn't run. Kennedy's current Senate term runs out in 1976.

Ohioans Celebrate Thanksgiving Holiday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland loves a parade.

Elves, floats and marching bands combined with a crisp, sunny Thursday to draw an estimated 200,000 persons to watch the lakefront city's annual Christmas parade on Thanksgiving Day.

The marchers, including dignitaries, police brigades, professional athletes and horseback units, stepped lively along Euclid Avenue down to Public Square.

A group of unicyclists were dressed as elves, mice and toy soldiers. Other participants posed as Walt Disney cartoon characters.

Parade Marshal Chester Koch compared the procession to the 1945 victory parade. That event drew 300,000.

Valley Forge High School won first place and $1,000 in the parade's float competition.

The weatherman gave Ohioans plenty to be thankful for. Rain stopped

Wednesday night, and sunshine boosted temperatures across the Buckeye state into the 50s and 60s.

One low pressure trough moved through the state Wednesday, and another is forecast to pass over today. Rain appears likely, and there is a chance of thundershowers.

State highway officials gave thanks that the Ohio highway death toll got off to a slow start, with only three deaths recorded in the first 24 hours of the holiday. However the figure had edged up Thursday night.

Officials predict 37 persons will lose their lives on Ohio roads between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

The American Automobile Association of Columbus reported the number of service calls was below normal for Thanksgiving. They said almost 50 per cent of the calls were from motorists stranded without gasoline.

The AAA said it had enough gas resources to service members, but Thursday night they could refer drivers to only one gas station that was open in the Columbus area.

Gov. and Mrs. John J. Gilligan reported spending the holiday with their daughter in Washington. U.S. Sen. William B. Saxton R-Ohio, was at home in Mechanicsburg pondering whether he would be U.S. attorney general.

Ohio State University seniors had a balmy day for traditional football tackling practice in anticipation of meeting Michigan this weekend.

And Pete Rose, the most valuable player in professional baseball's National League, turned cheerleader on Thanksgiving.

Rose was on the sidelines in the first high school football contest to be played in Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. But that wasn't enough to help his former high school team, Cincinnati Western Hills. They lost to arch rival Cincinnati Elder 7-6.

Red Forces Hit Airfield Near Pleiku

SAIGON (AP) — Communist-led forces battered the Pleiku airfield in the central highlands this afternoon with the heaviest shelling attack since the ceasefire went into effect 10 months ago, government military sources said.

The informants said 30 rockets slammed into the air base, some tearing through the roof of the terminal building and other hitting the control tower.

First reports said 19 military men and three civilians were wounded. There were no reports of any deaths.

At least two twin-engine Caribou transports were reported damaged along with the terminal building and the tower.

It was the third time since the ceasefire went into effect Jan. 28 that Pleiku airfield had been shelled.

The attack marked a pattern of intensified fighting in the highlands, where both the government and Communist sides are maneuvering for land and population control.

Sources said South Vietnamese officials in Pleiku verbally asked representatives of the International Commission of Control and Supervision in Pleiku to launch an immediate investigation into the rocket attack, but the commission's field team refused until it receives a formal written request.

Pleiku is about 240 miles northeast of Saigon.

The game drew 24,294 persons, the largest crowd ever to watch a high school game in Cincinnati.

Katherine Trantner of nearby Covington, Ky., had reason to stop and take stock of her blessings. She could not serve her family the traditional turkey.

She told police she had set her frozen turkey outside to thaw before cooking Thursday morning. When she went to get it, someone—or something—had taken it.

It was a better day for Sheriff Donald Watson of southwestern Ohio's Clermont County.

Two young girls wandered off near their Amelia home Wednesday after getting off a school bus. After an all-night search, the sheriff found Kathy Wallace, 10, and her sister Cherie, 7, in a field.

They were cold, but otherwise unharmed.

Watson called it "a very satisfying Thanksgiving."

Shortage Hits Drivers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The fear of running out of gas prompted many holiday travelers to ride trains or buses rather than drive cars for Thanksgiving Day trips. And they probably didn't regret it.

Some cars coughed and sputtered to a standstill on freeways around the country as the fuel shortage became a reality for many drivers.

"We were getting two or three calls a minute this afternoon from motorists stranded without gas," spokesman Alex Parley of the Connecticut Automobile Association said Thursday night.

Many gas stations were reported closed, but whether for lack of fuel or because of the holiday could not be determined.

A spokesman for the American Automobile Association office in Columbus, Ohio, said 50 per cent of Thursday's calls were emergency appeals for gas. He said at 8 p.m. only one gas station in the area was open.

Some of those able to find gas had to pay dearly for it.

Station owner Harry Simmermon of Monroe Township, N.J., found no lack of business despite prices described as "Thanksgiving blackmail" by one local official.

Simmermon charged 82 cents a gallon for regular and 86 cents a gallon for premium gasoline at his Shell station on Black Horse Pike. Normally he sells regular gas for 38.9 cents a gallon and premium for 45.9 cents.

Those who decided on public transportation didn't have to worry about gas, but they had to hassle with crowds.

Amtrak, the nation's passenger rail service, got "every available coach they had out of mothballs" to handle the load, one regional supervisor said.

A spokesman said Amtrak's system-wide reservations center received 27,000 calls for information on Thanksgiving Day, about 15,000 more than expected.

Standing room only was the case on many of Amtrak's trains, especially the Washington-Philadelphia-New York route.

Greyhound Bus Lines in New York said it expected 50 per cent more travelers than usual for the holiday period.

An additional complication in bus travel was the voluntarily imposed 50 mile per hour speed limit on highways, making for late arrivals. "We've gotten so screwed up on schedules because of the lowered speed limits, that people don't know what the hell is going on," said one dispatcher at Port Authority in New York City.

Motorists in many areas seemed to be complying with the lowered speeds, now mandatory in at least 10 states.

Amtrak employees at various stations around the country indicated it wasn't just the Thanksgiving holiday that accounted for the increase in traffic.

"We're booked solid on all long-distance runs through Dec. 31. The gas shortage has had an awful lot to do with it," said Diane Ruddy, an Amtrak controller in Seattle.

Amtrak employees in Philadelphia said some trains to New York were booked full for weeks and that many passengers were willing to stand all the way if necessary.

Skylab Crewmen Tracking Comet

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A record space walk behind them, the Skylab 3 astronauts turn their attention to a huge comet which is streaking toward the sun from the far reaches of the solar system.

This afternoon they plan to aim a camera at the comet Kohoutek, which now is 140 million miles away, to start an extensive series of Kohoutek studies which will span several weeks.

Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson were to spend much of their day regrouping and storing space suits and other items used during a Thanksgiving Day space walk.

In 6 hours, 34 minutes and 35 seconds outside, Pogue and Gibson loaded film in four telescope cameras, developed several scientific experiments and repaired a stuck antenna.

Their outside excursion was 3 minutes and 25 seconds longer than the previous record set by two Skylab 2 astronauts last Aug. 6.

Flight Director Neil Hutchinson said Pogue and Gibson did a "remarkable job. They worked slow and steady on a tough job. You've got to give those guys a great big star."

Hutchinson said experimenters were especially pleased that the space walkers were able to restore the antenna to nearly full operation, about 80 per cent of capability. It was stuck in one position and was almost unusable in an earth resources experiment which gathers data on snow, ice, oceans and earth's terrain.

On the eighth day of their planned 84-day space journey, the astronauts today start their scientific research in earnest. The first target will be Kohoutek, the giant comet which has excited the world of astronomy like no other event this century.

For the next four weeks, the crew will snap a series of Kohoutek photos each day as the comet speeds toward its closest approach to the sun, 13.2 million miles on Dec. 28.

Starting Saturday, the astronauts will begin pointing sophisticated instruments at Kohoutek in an effort to learn its makeup. Scientists believe comets are composed of material whose study might provide clues to the early history of the solar system.

Bad Weather Widens

Rain and snow fell on much of the West today, and fog and rain crept over large areas in the nation's mid-section and the East.

Heavy rain washed Southern California, and a few showers and snow touched areas from Washington to Montana.

A heavy-snow warning was issued for the mountains of central Arizona, and travel advisories were posted for southern Utah and the mountains of central and southern Colorado.

Los Angeles was hit by almost an inch of rain during a two-hour period Thursday night. The rain caused power outages in many parts of the city and sent mud and rocks sliding across roads in the Topanga Canyon, about 20 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Thunderstorms rumbled over Arkansas and Oklahoma and the lower Mississippi Valley before dawn.

Fog became dense from east Texas to the southeast Atlantic Coast and over most of New England. Fog also drifted over areas from eastern South Dakota to the northern Great Lakes.

Travel advisories were in effect for northeastern Maine, and lowering temperatures posed a threat of freezing drizzle.

Elsewhere east of the Rockies, skies were clear or partly cloudy.

Heavy rain washed Southern California, and a few showers and snow touched areas from Washington to Montana.

A heavy-snow warning was issued for the mountains of central Arizona, and travel advisories were posted for southern Utah and the mountains of central and southern Colorado.

Los Angeles was hit by almost an inch of rain during a two-hour period Thursday night. The rain caused power outages in many parts of the city and sent mud and rocks sliding across roads in the Topanga Canyon, about 20 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Thunderstorms rumbled over Arkansas and Oklahoma and the lower Mississippi Valley before dawn.

Fog became dense from east Texas to the southeast Atlantic Coast and over most of New England. Fog also drifted over areas from eastern South Dakota to the northern Great Lakes.

Travel advisories were in effect for northeastern Maine, and lowering temperatures posed a threat of freezing drizzle.

Elsewhere east of the Rockies, skies were clear or partly cloudy.

Rural Zoning Need Seen For Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Even before the energy crisis, Ohioans were thinking about increasing pressure on another valuable resource—the land itself.

Since World War II, an increasing number of townships and counties across Ohio have adopted rural zoning and subdivision regulations in an attempt to maintain orderly development of the land.

The last two townships in Preble County added rural zoning in the Nov. 6 elections, and voters in both Meggs and Wyandotte counties approved subdivision regulations.

For generations, development occurred without planning, in helter-skelter fashion, according to John Mitchell, a rural sociologist with the Ohio State University extension division.

Derailment Kills Train Crewman

WINDHAM, Ohio (AP)—Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. officials say an open switch may have caused a derailment here Thursday in which one crewman died and another was injured.

The dead man was identified as engineer Raymond Wilcox, 39, of Meadville, Pa. The other crewman, 30-year-old David Consider of Meadville, was listed in guarded condition at a Ravenna hospital.

Both were trapped inside the locomotive cab when it spun off the tracks, partially embedding itself in the earth.

Unable to use acetylene torches because of draining diesel fuel, Windham firemen freed the men by prying apart the wreckage of the engine.

Railroad officials said 13 cars of the 27-car freight derailed at a siding that runs past a brick factory on the outskirts of the community. The train was carrying truck trailers.

Railroad officials said the train apparently derailed because the switch at the siding had been thrown. They said the railroad was investigating why the switch had been turned.

They estimated the speed of the train at about 50 miles per hour when the derailment occurred.

Seek Trio In Kidnap Of 2 Females

JONESBORO, Ga. (AP) — South Georgia authorities pressed a search today for three young men who abducted the wife and daughter of a Methodist minister.

Mrs. Jackie Nelson, 44, and her 16-year-old daughter, Debbie, were released unharmed Thursday after being held hostage more than 30 hours. A family spokesman said they intended today to "rest up and unwind from their long ordeal."

The women told police their kidnapers released them on a rural road more than 100 miles south of their home in Jonesboro, an Atlanta suburb. The men fled in a white Cadillac, they said.

Officers said the men were described as being in their early 20s, except for one who appeared to be about 30 years old.

The drama began early Wednesday when the Rev. E. M. Nelson awoke with a pistol in his face, police said he told them.

Three masked and armed men handcuffed the minister and left with his wife and youngest daughter. The eldest daughter, Cheryl, 18, was away at college.

Several hours after the abduction, the Rev. Mr. Nelson managed to free himself and notify police, officers said.

Nelson, pastor of the Jonesboro United Methodist Church, told officers the kidnapers promised to notify authorities of the abduction within 90 minutes. He said they wanted to negotiate the release of Daniel Warren, 36, one of three men held in the Clayton County jail charged in the Oct. 23 robbery of a bank in Molena, Ga.

City Police Nab Runaway Youth

Ptl. Jim Francis and Mike Eberhard apprehended a 15-year-old Circleville boy who was a runaway from the Maumee Youth Camp near Toledo.

The officers picked the boy up on W. Main St. Thursday morning. He is in the detention center at Pickaway County jail awaiting the arrival of Youth Camp officials.

LE Adult Farmer Class To Meet

The Logan Elm Adult Farmer class will meet 8 p.m. Monday in the Logan Elm High School Agriculture Room.

The meeting will consist of discussions on "The Use of the Ohio Commercial Farm Account Book" and "How Accurate Records Can Be Utilized by Today's Farmer".

Mitchell calls laws like rural zoning "tools to help control land use."

"I am particularly concerned about the implications for rural people, open space and small communities," Mitchell said. "Around the state, I see what I call 'scatteration'—freckles of subdivision development popping out in rural areas."

Random development is costly in the long run because it doesn't consider safety, sanitation or conflicting land uses nearby, he said.

The interest in rural zoning and subdivision regulations has developed gradually over the years, he said, noting that the laws also generally follow the pressure of population.

The most heavily zoned area of the state is the populous Northeast, where only Columbiana and Wayne counties do not have countywide zoning. The least zoned is the sparsely populated Southeast.

A broad band of counties where both rural zoning and subdivision regulations have been approved runs diagonally down through the state from the northeast, passing through the major population centers of Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati.

"Generally speaking, the Northeast is in the best shape," especially since development pressure is heaviest there, Mitchell said.

Fulton, Hardin and Wyandot are the only counties in the Northwest that have no townships with rural zoning regulations, and fast-growing Defiance and Shelby counties lack subdivision regulations, Mitchell said.

In the Southwest, Clarke, Fairfield, Greene and Miami counties are all without subdivision regulations, although most of the area has voted for rural zoning, he said.

In hilly southeastern Ohio, however, only eight of the 28 counties contain townships that have voted for rural zoning. And more than half of the townships in those counties are unzoned, he said.

Mitchell said development pressure will increase across the state. He noted that Ohio's population density ranks sixth in the nation, 260 people per square mile.

"Ohioans are faced with more and more decisions concerning land resources, and particularly how the land outside of incorporated centers is going to be used."

Contributions Made To CBC

Circleville Bible College was among the 833 colleges and universities benefiting last year from the Corporate Alumnus Program through which 6,211 General Electric employees contributed a total of $782,063. The local college received $3,501 in 1972 through the GE program.

The 1972 program provided that individual GE employees who have been with the company at least a year could contribute up to $2,000 per year to any accredited two-or four-year institution of higher learning with contributions matched by the foundation on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Beginning in 1973, the maximum individual gift for matching has been increased to $3,000, according to Dr. Donald J. Watson, Secretary of the Foundation.

Since 1955, when GE pioneered the gift-matching program, schools have received $16,507,133 in Corporate Alumnus Program contributions and matching gifts.

The program is part of a more than $3,720,000 educational support package sponsored this year by the GE Company and the GE Foundation.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three offense reports Thursday.

Lovell Hammond, Route 1, Williamsport, reported thieves took 75 sheets of metal roofing from his residence sometime between 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Both were trapped inside the locomotive cab when it spun off the tracks, partially embedding itself in the earth.

Unable to use acetylene torches because of draining diesel fuel, Windham firemen freed the men by prying apart the wreckage of the engine.

Railroad officials said 13 cars of the 27-car freight derailed at a siding that runs past a brick factory on the outskirts of the community. The train was carrying truck trailers.

Railroad officials said the train apparently derailed because the switch at the siding had been thrown. They said the railroad was investigating why the switch had been turned.

They estimated the speed of the train at about 50 miles per hour when the derailment occurred.

Seek Trio In Kidnap Of 2 Females

JONESBORO, Ga. (AP) — South Georgia authorities pressed a search today for three young men who abducted the wife and daughter of a Methodist minister.

Mrs. Jackie Nelson, 44, and her 16-year-old daughter, Debbie, were released unharmed Thursday after being held hostage more than 30 hours. A family spokesman said they intended today to "rest up and unwind from their long ordeal."

The women told police their kidnapers released them on a rural road more than 100 miles south of their home in Jonesboro, an Atlanta suburb. The men fled in a white Cadillac, they said.

Officers said the men were described as being in their early 20s, except for one who appeared to be about 30 years old.

The drama began early Wednesday when the Rev. E. M. Nelson awoke with a pistol in his face, police said he told them.

Three masked and armed men handcuffed the minister and left with his wife and youngest daughter. The eldest daughter, Cheryl, 18, was away at college.

Several hours after the abduction, the Rev. Mr. Nelson managed to free himself and notify police, officers said.

Nelson, pastor of the Jonesboro United Methodist Church, told officers the kidnapers promised to notify authorities of the abduction within 90 minutes. He said they wanted to negotiate the release of Daniel Warren, 36, one of three men held in the Clayton County jail charged in the Oct. 23 robbery of a bank in Molena, Ga.

Ptl. Jim Francis and Mike Eberhard apprehended a 15-year-old Circleville boy who was a runaway from the Maumee Youth Camp near Toledo.

LE Adult Farmer Class To Meet

The Logan Elm Adult Farmer class will meet 8 p.m. Monday in the Logan Elm High School Agriculture Room.

The meeting will consist of discussions on "The Use of the Ohio Commercial Farm Account Book" and "How Accurate Records Can Be Utilized by Today's Farmer".

Mitchell calls laws like rural zoning "tools to help control land use."

"I am particularly concerned about the implications for rural people, open space and small communities," Mitchell said. "Around the state, I see what I call 'scatteration'—freckles of subdivision development popping out in rural areas.

Random development is costly in the long run because it doesn't consider safety, sanitation or conflicting land uses nearby, he said.

The interest in rural zoning and subdivision regulations has developed gradually over the years, he said, noting that the laws also generally follow the pressure of population.

The most heavily zoned area of the state is the populous Northeast, where only Columbiana and Wayne counties do not have countywide zoning. The least zoned is the sparsely populated Southeast.

A broad band of counties where both rural zoning and subdivision regulations have been approved runs diagonally down through the state from the northeast, passing through the major population centers of Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati.

"Generally speaking, the Northeast is in the best shape," especially since development pressure is heaviest there, Mitchell said.

Fulton, Hardin and Wyandot are the only counties in the Northwest that have no townships with rural zoning regulations, and fast-growing De-fiance and Shelby counties lack subdivision regulations, Mitchell said.

In the Southwest, Clarke, Fairfield, Greene and Miami counties are all without subdivision regulations, although most of the area has voted for rural zoning, he said.

In hilly southeastern Ohio, however, only eight of the 28 counties contain townships that have voted for rural zoning. And more than half of the townships in those counties are unzoned, he said.

Mitchell said development pressure will increase across the state. He noted that Ohio's population density ranks sixth in the nation, 260 people per square mile.

"Ohioans are faced with more and more decisions concerning land resources, and particularly how the land outside of incorporated centers is going to be used.

Contributions Made To CBC

Circleville Bible College was among the 833 colleges and universities benefiting last year from the Corporate Alumnus Program through which 6,211 General Electric employees contributed a total of $782,063. The local college received $3,501 in 1972 through the GE program.

The 1972 program provided that individual GE employees who have been with the company at least a year could contribute up to $2,000 per year to any accredited two-or four-year institution of higher learning with contributions matched by the foundation on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Beginning in 1973, the maximum individual gift for matching has been increased to $3,000, according to Dr. Donald J. Watson, Secretary of the Foundation.

Since 1955, when GE pioneered the gift-matching program, schools have received $16,507,133 in Corporate Alumnus Program contributions and matching gifts.

The program is part of a more than $3,720,000 educational support package sponsored this year by the GE Company and the GE Foundation.

Now you need a reason to do anything. You don't have to have one but you like to have one. My brother Gale, Don (Butch) Edgington and I want to go to San Blas, Mexico.

Our reason is that Gale wants to take a 25HP outboard motor to a poor fisherman in San Blas. San Blas is a sleepy little fishing village not too far north of the location where "The Night of the Iguana" was filmed with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. It is on the south coast of Mexico in the tropical climate of the seashore fronting on the Blue Pacific. As I said, Gale wants to take the motor to the fisherman and Butch and I are going along to "help" Gale.

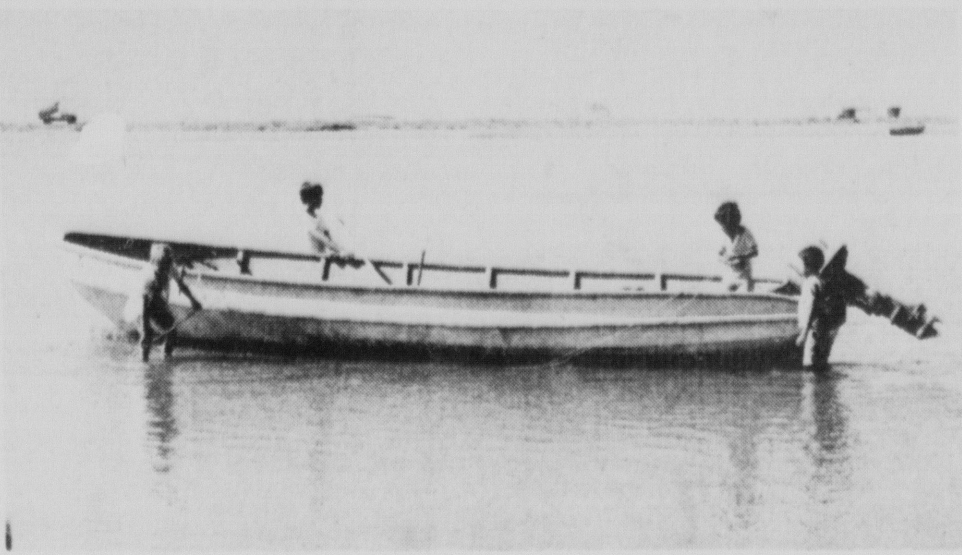

We left Ashville on November 2 in the morning and before we arrived in Mount Sterling the bar began acting up. Gale's diagnosis was correct. The attendant who serviced the transmission added about an additional quart of fluid and the pressure blew the seal. Back home and then to Circleville where the damage was repaired and we got under way at about 3:30 p.m.

We took turns driving and sleeping and drove through to Laredo, Texas, in about 28 hours — about 1500 miles. Gasoline varied in price from about 28 to 44 cents per gallon but was readily available.

When one has seen several "no vacancy" signs after dark he is not quite so choosy after a long trip. So this motel is available for three of us but why did they have a midget design the bathroom? But it was clean and you know how it is; "any port in a storm." Now about the mirror — there wasn't any. Butch asked for one and the management gave us a little one about 3 inches in diameter. Butch set it in the tiny window and as he was shaving he said he nicked himself every time a car went by and the lights shone on the window glass.

Gale had quite a talk with the Mexican Custom agents about the motor. After some haggling about the value of the motor and the tariff to be paid they made it all legal for $8.

The road south is a pretty good highway. The new by-pass around Monterrey keeps one several miles from this metropolis, one of the large cities in Mexico. The aggregate used in these highways gives excellent traction as it is very abrasive but it causes ex-

This basin of hundreds of square miles of land is supposed, at one time, to have been one of the largest lakes in the world. There are a few places where the growth has been bulldozed off and grass is growing rather profusely. I suspect some irrigation might be employed. There is certainly a lot of unused land in Mexico.

Reclamation Costs Bared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An engineering study of abandoned strip-mined areas in southeastern Ohio has determined it would take 95 years and cost $283 million to reclaim the land.

The report by Skelly & Loy of Columbus for the Ohio Board of Unreclaimed Strip Mine Lands, said more than 368,000 have been strip mined, 24,000 acres of which still are being mined.

The report will be examined by the state agency before any action is recommended.

The energy crisis could affect the time it will take to reclaim the mined lands, the report noted.

But the consultants recommended that efforts begin immediately in portions of Gallia, Jackson, Vinton and Meigs counties.

Also participating in the study were the Batelle Memorial Institute, Arthur Young & Co. of Toledo and the school of landscape architecture at Ohio State University.

by the Mexican Highway Authority. They are very clever and effective. However the one at railroad crossings is simply a red sign with ALTO (stop) on it. As the guide book says that doesn't really mean "stop"—as you will quickly notice. It means that you should have stopped and are to blame if you get hit. If you had stopped, though, quite likely someone would have plowed into you. Sometimes you can't win—even in Mexico.

Very little of the corn looked like it would yield 25 bushels per acre. Some of the shocks were no larger than a sheaf of wheat. However there was some corn near the west coast that had more reasonable yields, some even good.

Porno Peddler's Business Mixed

MIDDLEFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The late autumn day was warm, and the visitors to the rural flea market drifted lazily from table to table.

Over in one corner of the grounds, 52-year-old Earl Smith sat glumly on a camp stool beside a table of racy paperbacks. In the van behind the table were more books, magazines and films.

Business wasn't very good. The overall-clad farmers and their wives only glanced at the "Adults Only" sign on their way to other tables of trinkets, produce and antiques.

"I never do very well here," Smith (not his real name) said dourly. He gestured at the crowds, some bearded and black-dressed Amish among them. "What can you expect?"

Smith became a wandering pornography peddler several years ago. He sometimes hits two or three flea markets in northeastern Ohio in a single afternoon. He'd been a salesman, children's apparel and he wanted off the road.

So he started a small shop in Cleveland, but a robbery closed it and a divorce left him flat. "A long, sad story," he said. So he went back on the road.

"I made more money" with children's clothing, he said. But the hours were long and hard, and "there's no pressure here. It's a life where you make a living and that's it."

It's also a business that will last, he said. "Don't believe everything you hear about the Supreme Court. This is a sport that's got a permanent audience."

The best evidence of that, he said, is his clientele — "the better educated, higher class people." And that was the reason business was so bad in Middlefield, he added.

"These people aren't sophisticated enough to appreciate pornography," he said.

Two black-bonneted Amish women walked up to a table of used paperbacks and magazines off to one side of the hard core material. They looked up and saw the "Adults Only" sign, looked away and walked on.

"I sold a couple of books to an Amish woman here once," Smith said. "But it only happened once."

He really hadn't intended to be in Middlefield at all that day. "The bad thing was, I set up this morning along Canal Road in Cleveland," he said. "And I was heading for a $300 day. Maybe my best ever."

Then the police moved in and broke up the flea market. They made the peddlers disperse. "A bomb scare, they said," he added.

"So I came out here." He sighed and lit another cigarette. "I never do very well here."

New Vitamin 'E' Diet Gives Fast Weight Loss

LOS ANGELES (Special) — New scientific discoveries have now produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "Forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Porno Peddler's Business Mixed

MIDDLEFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The late autumn day was warm, and the visitors to the rural flea market drifted lazily from table to table.

Over in one corner of the grounds, 52-year-old Earl Smith sat glumly on a camp stool beside a table of racy paperbacks. In the van behind the table were more books, magazines and films.

Business wasn't very good. The overall-clad farmers and their wives only glanced at the "Adults Only" sign on their way to other tables of trinkets, produce and antiques.

"I never do very well here," Smith (not his real name) said dourly. He gestured at the crowds, some bearded and black-dressed Amish among them. "What can you expect?"

Smith became a wandering pornography peddler several years ago. He sometimes hits two or three flea markets in northeastern Ohio in a single afternoon. He'd been a salesman, children's apparel and he wanted off the road.

So he started a small shop in Cleveland, but a robbery closed it and a divorce left him flat. "A long, sad story," he said. So he went back on the road.

"I made more money" with children's clothing, he said. But the hours were long and hard, and "there's no pressure here. It's a life where you make a living and that's it."

It's also a business that will last, he said. "Don't believe everything you hear about the Supreme Court. This is a sport that's got a permanent audience."

The best evidence of that, he said, is his clientele — "the better educated, higher class people." And that was the reason business was so bad in Middlefield, he added.

"These people aren't sophisticated

enough to appreciate pornography," he said.

Two black-bonneted Amish women walked up to a table of used paperbacks and magazines off to one side of the hard core material. They looked up and saw the "Adults Only" sign, looked away and walked on.

"I sold a couple of books to an Amish woman here once," Smith said. "But it only happened once."

He really hadn't intended to be in Middlefield at all that day. "The bad thing was, I set up this morning along Canal Road in Cleveland," he said. "And I was heading for a $300 day. Maybe my best ever."

Then the police moved in and broke up the flea market. They made the peddlers disperse. "A bomb scare, they said," he added.

"So I came out here," He sighed and lit another cigarette. "I never do very well here."

New Vitamin 'E' Diet Gives Fast Weight Loss

LOS ANGELES (Special) — New scientific discoveries have now produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Too Much Good Will?

Though the approaching Yuletide is the season of good will, it is well to remember that there isn't a decent or kindly impulse of mankind that doesn't suggest to someone a new way of making a fast buck. That's why the Better Business Bureau had to warn New Yorkers the other day to beware of Christmas gyps.

Wherever merchandise is offered at "incredible" savings, the BBB says, stop and think: Probably they really are incredible, and it might be smart to be incredulous. When strangers demonstrate their good will by offering a fantastic bargain, remember they are strangers and be a bit skeptical about their good will.

This is the season when the fly-by-night flourishes — the fellow who is there when a customer has money to hand out but is somewhere else when he wants his money back. Be wary, then, of flamboyant retail outlets "whose strident signs and garish window displays try to trap customers into buying spuriously fantastic bargains."

Be as suspicious of such methods as Little Red Riding Hood was of her alleged grandmother's sharp teeth.

This is good advice, but like most good advice it may not be followed by those who need it most. Individuals who fall for phony bargains do not seem to learn by experience.

The Heartbeat

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, —The Albert Lasker Medical Awards for 1973 got right to the heart of the matter — the heart itself, that incredible pump few of us pay any attention to unless it skips one of its customary 103,680 daily beats. The winners this year are Drs. Paul M. Zoll, of Harvard and Boston's Beth Israel Hospital, and William B. Kouwenhoven, of John Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Dr. Zoll developed the battery-powered pacemaker, now implanted in more than 60,000 Americans — and so widely trusted that about 15,000 persons will undergo the relatively simple operation this year. In 1952, Dr. Zoll demonstrated for the first time that when a human heart stops it can be induced to resume beating by externally applied electric stimulation. Later studies showed that externally applied alternating current counter-shocks are similarly effective in stopping potentially fatal heart flutters and other abnormalities of rhythm. He is the father of every modern hospital's Coronary Care Unit.

Dr. Kouwenhoven's heart has served him very well. In addition to its performance while he was an embryo, it has been beating soundly since the day he was born in Brooklyn, January 13, 1906. That stretches out to 87 years. Break that down into days, multiply by 103,680 and, well, Kouwenhoven begins to sound like a new comet.

His achievements in heart research have been equally astounding.

In 1926, Consolidated Edison, concerned with the effects on the hearts of electric linemen shocked while on the job, asked the proper treatment. The institute turned the job over to Johns Hopkins — and its already highly respected Professor of Electrical Engineering, Dr. Kouwenhoven. With two assistants, he went to work on the broad field of reducing the effect of electric shocks on humans.

In 1930, Kouwenhoven and his staff were shown a scientific paper that had been briefly circulated in Europe in 1899. It made the astonishing claim that an electric shock could revert a fluttering heart to normal beating. It took the Kouwenhoven team three years before it could confirm that dusty claim.

By 1947, because of this research program, the open chest electric treatment, combined with the squeezing of a failing heart by hand — to enable it to circulate the patient's blood — was in common practice. But it was not practicable. Hence, the development of a closed chest defibrillator that used alternating current. That was neater, let's say, but how could the heart be squeezed since there was no chest opening?

Finally, Dr. Kouwenhoven came up with the ECM (external cardiac massage), which has saved countless stricken persons through the world. And will save many more. For example, the entire New York City Police Force, 31,000 strong, is presently taking instructions in the art.

Here are Dr. Kouwenhoven's directions:

"If you come upon someone lying unconscious on a street, place him on his back and note if he is breathing. If not, give him two or three quick deep breaths by the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation method. Make sure his chest rises. Then feel for his pulse. If there is a pulse, all that he needs is continued mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and careful watching.

"If there is no pulse, kneel at his side, and put one finger of your hand on the lower end of the breastbone. Place the heel of the other hand up against the finger and press vertically downward with sufficient force to press the lower end of the breastbone down from one to one-and-a-half inches. Do this 60 or 70 times a minute. After 15 compressions, stop and give him two quick deep breaths. Call for help to give additional mouth-to-mouth resuscitations. Have someone call an ambulance to rush the victim to a hospital — where a defibrillating machine is available and can restore the normal heartbeat. But your own first aid will be what has saved the life. By following these instructions, you can keep an unconscious patient alive for at least an hour."

Dr. Kouwenhoven, you may be interested to know, if you think you're getting too old to be useful, developed the closed chest de-flutterer and the external cardiac massage after he was 68 years old, and had been retired for years from his long and distinguished career as an electrical engineer!

Oswald's Widow Bound To Silence

ROCKWALL, Tex. (AP) — The sign says "Beware of Dog" and a barbed-wire gate suggests that one is not always welcome at the country home of Marina Oswald Porter.

"No, no," she says when a telephone caller requests an interview. "I have talked to Life magazine, and I cannot talk with you, even if I wanted to. They could sue me if I talked to anyone or permitted pictures."

And so it goes with the Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, the surly, wispy man accused of the ambush assassination of President John F. Kennedy 10 years ago in Dallas.

Now Mrs. Kenneth Jess Porter, the dark blonde Marina and her three children abandoned city life recently and settled in the rolling farmlands of Rockwall County east of, and adjacent to, Dallas.

Porter, an electronics technician at the time of their marriage in 1964, is now an agent for a Dallas-based sewing company.

The blue-eyed Marina, 32, described by neighbors as still slim and attractive, surfaces occasionally at one of two country stores within minutes of her home.

The house is unfinished but would appear to be in the $30,000 range. A muddy pond lies between the front entrance and the farm road, and a wire fence runs along the highway.

A recent visitor found no one at home and despite the black-and-white "Beware" sign, no dog in sight.

In the brief telephone conversation, Marina said, "No pictures, no interviews, no anything."

She explained that Life magazine, although folded, planned a special edition marking the 10th anniversary of Kennedy's death and she was contractually bound to silence until next spring.

"I am fine now, everything's fine," she said, with only a trace of the Russian accent so distinct in the days and months after the assassination.

Her two children by Oswald — June, 12, and Rachel, 10 — and her son by Porter, Mark, 7, attend school in nearby Rockwall, traveling the nine miles by bus. Marina does not drive a car.

School officials, reluctant to discuss the Porter children, say the three youngsters have adapted smoothly and there is no problem of acceptance by other children.

"Really, there hasn't been a whole lot said about it.... I think the less we say about it, the better off we are," said one official.

State Revenue Tops Estimates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's tax commissioner says he's not ready to change his agency's estimate of state income for the current fiscal period, even though actual revenues are running ahead of estimates.

Robert Kosydar said Tuesday an economic boom which his agency had thought would soften about the middle of September actually ran into October.

Then along came the energy crisis, he said, and there's no way to predict its impact.

A comparison of estimates with actual revenues shows income from eight sources about $63 million ahead of predictions.

Today In History

Today is Friday, Nov. 23, the 327th day of 1973. There are 38 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1890, the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg was separated from the Netherlands.

On this date—

In 1765, the British Stamp Act was first repudiated in the American colonies — the court of Frederick County, Maryland.

In 1774, the Minutemen were organized by an act of the Colonial Provincial Congress.

In 1804, the 14th American president, Franklin Pierce, was born in Hillsborough, N.H.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Lookout Mountain began in Tennessee.

In 1943, in the Pacific War, U.S. Marines seized the island of Tarawa from the Japanese.

In 1945, the United States ended wartime food rationing.

Ten years ago: The body of John F. Kennedy was lying in repose in a closed, flag-draped coffin in the East Room of the White House.

Five years ago: French President Charles De Gaulle refused to devalue the franc in the midst of a severe international monetary crisis.

One year ago: Bolivia declared a state of siege, and the right-wing government said there was a conspiracy to overthrow it.

Today's birthday: Former Assistant Secretary of State Roger Hilsman Jr. is 54.

Thought for today: The worth of a state, in the long run, is the worth of the individuals composing it — John Stuart Mill, English philosopher and economist, 1800-1873.

Living Costs Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose sharply last month following September's slowdown, owing partly to the energy crisis and higher prices for fuel oil and gasoline, the government said today.

The Department of Labor reported that the cost of living climbed eight-tenths of one per cent in October and pushed consumer prices up 7.9 per cent above a year ago. It marked the largest jump in any 12-month period since the 8.7 per cent inflationary rate recorded in the June 1950-51 period at the start of the Korean War.

In addition to sharply higher prices for gasoline and fuel oil, rising costs for clothing, mortgage interest rates and health insurance contributed significantly to the October rise in prices, the government said.

A decline in meat and poultry prices was more than offset in the statistics by large increases in prices of restaurant meals and some food and some grocery store prices.

Say County Home Violated Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine employees of the Washington County Home violated state law by receiving compensation totaling $3,802.80 for unused vacation and sick leave between May 29, 1970 and Aug. 15, 1973, state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said "the law prohibits unused vacation and sick leave compensation before an employee's leave of service."

He said prohibited compensation ranged from $152.60 to $970.

The auditor said, in addition, Supt. Donald R. Haas was overpaid $165 in 1972.

Dividend Declared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hickory Farms of Ohio, Inc., which operates a chain of retail specialty food stores, declared Tuesday a third quarter dividend of four cents a share, payable Dec. 28 to stockholders of record Dec. 7.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is it dangerous to give shock treatments to people who are severely depressed?

Is it helpful for all kinds of serious mental disturbances?

Mr. B.B.D., Tex.

Dear Mr. D.:

The diagnosis of a mental illness is a very difficult one.

Long years of intensive study trains a psychiatrist to be able to make the fine shades of distinction between mental illness and neurotic behavior.

Before any form of treatment is instituted psychiatrists spend an inordinate amount of time to be sure that both the diagnosis and the treatment are exact.

The decision to use shock therapy is made with extreme care. It is used for marked melancholia, depression, and even for some manic states.

In carefully selected patients, the shock therapy is performed with electric stimulation to the brain, or with drugs.

Before these treatments, a general physical examination is made to be sure that the patient's physical condition can withstand this intensive form of treatment.

In the last decade, severe depression and allied problems have responded remarkably well to a large number of new chemical drugs. In many instances, cases that previously needed shock therapy now react well to these drugs. The results are most gratifying.

After a very trying business meeting, I had a sudden attack of gout. I wonder if emotional tension could possibly bring this on?

MR. J.O'N., Conn.

Dear Mr. O'N.:

The modern concept of medicine suggests an undeniable relationship between the emotions and all physical ailments.

Despite the fact that gout is a distinctly organic disease, it must be accepted that severe emotional tension may play some role in a sudden flareup.

I would, however, be more inclined to believe that over-indulgence in the wrong food, and alcohol, have played a greater role than you think in your recent attack.

A combination of emotional stress and departure from the regime outlined for you by your doctor could very well be responsible for your sudden flareup.

Can a hammer toe be corrected?

Mrs. L.L., Maine

Dear Mrs. L.:

A hammer toe is one that is bent on itself. It can be annoying with some types of shoes. Almost always the cause is some birth abnormality.

Corrective shoes cannot change the anatomical position of a hammer toe, although certain shoes may make you feel more comfortable.

The only way to correct this condition is by surgery. Each case is carefully evaluated before operation is suggested.

Ohio Colleges Conserve Energy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Colleges and universities across Ohio are lowering the thermostats and turning off unnecessary lights in preparation for a long cold winter.

No emergencies have surfaced, although the colleges admit basketball fans may find gymnasium temperatures chilly without sweaters and some of the schools are nervously watching weather forecasts.

All of the schools say they'll probably have to plan on increased use of coal as a fuel this winter, especially during cold snaps. But although coal is a plentiful fuel in Ohio, some of the schools are keeping their fingers crossed.

"There's no problem with coal as a fuel," a Case Western Reserve University spokesman said. Case has two campus power plants, and both can run on coal.

"But the coal comes to us on trucks," he added. "We can use the coal—if we can get it."

Cleveland State University, Ohio State, Cincinnati University, little Oberlin College and a host of others have established 68 degrees as the official temperature for classrooms when in use.

At Cleveland State, College officials have ordered a special temperature breakdown for campus buildings. They'll be 68 degrees during classes, 65 degrees at night and 60 degrees on weekends.

Lights will be turned out in any Cleveland State classrooms left vacant for at least 20 minutes, the college says. And night cleaning crews have been ordered to use lighting only in their immediate work areas.

At Kent State and Case Western, there will be one exception to the 68-degree rule, however. Both schools say cats and monkeys were unable to stand the colder air, and those animal laboratories will remain at a balmy 72 degrees this winter.

Dogs, white rats, students, faculty and even computers proved harder. But the colleges say they carefully adjusted the computer room heat by stepping down the thermostats in a series of small changes.

The basketball season and the need to heat huge gymnasiums has caused some concern. But the schools say there doesn't appear to be a major problem—at least not yet.

At Case Western, practices will be scheduled during the day to save on night heating bills. At Ohio State, associate athletic Director Hugh Hindman says fans should think about bringing a sweater to the games.

A Kent State spokesman says the school is hoping for large turnouts at the games—in hopes collective body heat will be available if fuel is not.

There's less worry for the moment at Cleveland State, where eight of the school's 10 home games are scheduled in Public Hall downtown. Heating the hall, a CSU spokesman noted, is the city's responsibility.

Saxbe Eligible, Professor Says

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The bill proposed by the Nixon administration to make U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, eligible for appointment as attorney general is permissible under the constitution, constitutional scholar Alexander Bickel said Tuesday.

The Yale law professor also said the constitutional provision which has become a controversy in Saxbe's nomination is not "really one of the foundation stones of the Republic."

The Senate Judiciary Committee turned over to the full Senate Tuesday the administration bill, effectively laying the constitutional decision at the feet of all the senators instead of just a committee.

Record Sales Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Record sales totaling $110.7 million for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, an increase over 1972 levels of 19 per cent, were reported Tuesday by Ranco Inc., a Columbus-based manufacturer of automotive parts.

In the brief telephone conversation, Marina said, "No pictures, no interviews, no anything."

She explained that Life magazine, although folded, planned a special edition marking the 10th anniversary of Kennedy's death and she was contractually bound to silence until next spring.

"I am fine now, everything's fine," she said, with only a trace of the Russian accent so distinct in the days and months after the assassination.

Her two children by Oswald — June, 12, and Rachel, 10 — and her son by Porter, Mark, 7, attend school in nearby Rockwall, traveling the nine miles by bus. Marina does not drive a car.

School officials, reluctant to discuss the Porter children, say the three youngsters have adapted smoothly and there is no problem of acceptance by other children.

"Really, there hasn't been a whole lot said about it.... I think the less we say about it, the better off we are," said one official.

State Revenue Tops Estimates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's tax commissioner says he's not ready to change his agency's estimate of state income for the current fiscal period, even though actual revenues are running ahead of estimates.

Robert Kosydar said Tuesday an economic boom which his agency had thought would soften about the middle of September actually ran into October.

Then along came the energy crisis, he said, and there's no way to predict its impact.

A comparison of estimates with actual revenues shows income from eight sources about $63 million ahead of predictions.

Living Costs Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose sharply last month following September's slowdown, owing partly to the energy crisis and higher prices for fuel oil and gasoline, the government said today.

The Department of Labor reported that the cost of living climbed eight-tenths of one per cent in October and pushed consumer prices up 7.9 per cent above a year ago. It marked the largest jump in any 12-month period since the 8.7 per cent inflationary rate recorded in the June 1950-51 period at the start of the Korean War.

In addition to sharply higher prices for gasoline and fuel oil, rising costs for clothing, mortgage interest rates and health insurance contributed significantly to the October rise in prices, the government said.

A decline in meat and poultry prices was more than offset in the statistics by large increases in prices of restaurant meals and some food and some grocery store prices.

Say County Home Violated Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine employees of the Washington County Home violated state law by receiving compensation totaling $3,802.80 for unused vacation and sick leave between May 29, 1970 and Aug. 15, 1973, state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said "the law prohibits unused vacation and sick leave compensation before an employee's leave of service."

He said prohibited compensation ranged from $152.60 to $970.

The auditor said, in addition, Supt. Donald R. Haas was overpaid $165 in 1972.

Dividend Declared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hickory Farms of Ohio, Inc., which operates a chain of retail specialty food stores, declared Tuesday a third quarter dividend of four cents a share, payable Dec. 28 to stockholders of record Dec. 7.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Nov. 23, the 327th day of 1973. There are 38 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1890, the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg was separated from the Netherlands.

On this date—

In 1765, the British Stamp Act was first repudiated in the American colonies — the court of Frederick County, Maryland.

In 1774, the Minutemen were organized by an act of the Colonial Provincial Congress.

In 1804, the 14th American president, Franklin Pierce, was born in Hillsborough, N.H.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Lookout Mountain began in Tennessee.

In 1943, in the Pacific War, U.S. Marines seized the island of Tarawa from the Japanese.

In 1945, the United States ended wartime food rationing.

Ten years ago: The body of John F. Kennedy was lying in repose in a closed, flag-draped coffin in the East Room of the White House.

Five years ago: French President Charles De Gaulle refused to devalue the franc in the midst of a severe international monetary crisis.

One year ago: Bolivia declared a state of siege, and the right-wing government said there was a conspiracy to overthrow it.

Today's birthday: Former Assistant Secretary of State Roger Hilsman Jr. is 54.

Thought for today: The worth of a state, in the long run, is the worth of the individuals composing it — John Stuart Mill, English philosopher and economist, 1800-1873.

Is it dangerous to give shock treatments to people who are severely depressed?

Is it helpful for all kinds of serious mental disturbances?

Mr. B.B.D., Tex.

Dear Mr. D.:

The diagnosis of a mental illness is a very difficult one.

Long years of intensive study trains a psychiatrist to be able to make the fine shades of distinction between mental illness and neurotic behavior.

Before any form of treatment is instituted psychiatrists spend an inordinate amount of time to be sure that both the diagnosis and the treatment are exact.

The decision to use shock therapy is made with extreme care. It is used for marked melancholia, depression, and even for some manic states.

In carefully selected patients, the shock therapy is performed with electric stimulation to the brain, or with drugs.

Before these treatments, a general physical examination is made to be sure that the patient's physical condition can withstand this intensive form of treatment.

In the last decade, severe depression and allied problems have responded remarkably well to a large number of new chemical drugs. In many instances, cases that previously needed shock therapy now react well to these drugs. The results are most gratifying.

I have gout. I watch my diet and have been taking an anti-gout medicine.

After a very trying business meeting, I had a sudden attack of gout. I wonder if emotional tension could possibly bring this on?

MR. J.O'N., Conn.

Dear Mr. O'N.:

The modern concept of medicine suggests an undeniable relationship between the emotions and all physical ailments.

Despite the fact that gout is a distinctly organic disease, it must be accepted that severe emotional tension may play some role in a sudden flareup.

I would, however, be more inclined to believe that over-indulgence in the wrong food, and alcohol, have played a greater role than you think in your recent attack.

A combination of emotional stress and departure from the regime outlined for you by your doctor could very well be responsible for your sudden flareup.

Can a hammer toe be corrected?

Mrs. L.L., Maine

Dear Mrs. L.:

A hammer toe is one that is bent on itself. It can be annoying with some types of shoes. Almost always the cause is some birth abnormality.

Corrective shoes cannot change the anatomical position of a hammer toe, although certain shoes may make you feel more comfortable.

The only way to correct this condition is by surgery. Each case is carefully evaluated before operation is suggested.

Ohio Colleges Conserve Energy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colleges and universities across Ohio are lowering the thermostats and turning off unnecessary lights in preparation for a long cold winter.

No emergencies have surfaced, although the colleges admit basketball fans may find gymnasium temperatures chilly without sweaters and some of the schools are nervously watching weather forecasts.

All of the schools say they'll probably have to plan on increased use of coal as a fuel this winter, especially during cold snaps. But although coal is a plentiful fuel in Ohio, some of the schools are keeping their fingers crossed.

"There's no problem with coal as a fuel," a Case Western Reserve University spokesman said. Case has two campus power plants, and both can run on coal.

"But the coal comes to us on trucks," he added. "We can use the coal—if we can get it."

Cleveland State University, Ohio State, Cincinnati University, little Oberlin College and a host of others have established 68 degrees as the official temperature for classrooms when in use.

At Cleveland State, College officials have ordered a special temperature breakdown for campus buildings. They'll be 68 degrees during classes, 65 degrees at night and 60 degrees on weekends.

Lights will be turned out in any Cleveland State classrooms left vacant for at least 20 minutes, the college says. And night cleaning crews have been ordered to use lighting only in their immediate work areas.

At Kent State and Case Western, there will be one exception to the 68-degree rule, however. Both schools say cats and monkeys were unable to stand the colder air, and those animal laboratories will remain at a balmy 72 degrees this winter.

Dogs, white rats, students, faculty and even computers proved harder. But the colleges say they carefully adjusted the computer room heat by stepping down the thermostats in a series of small changes.

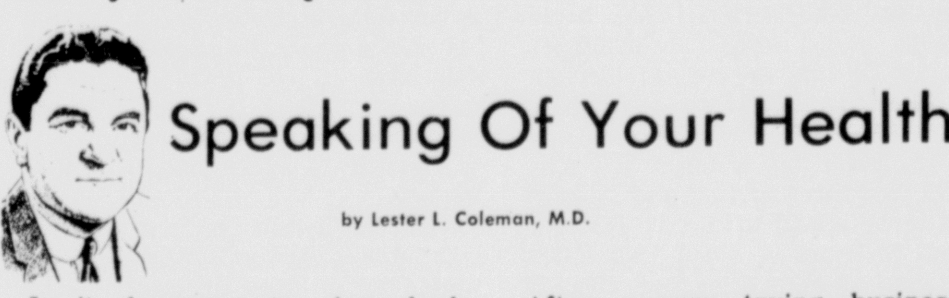

Record Sales Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Record sales totaling $110.7 million for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, an increase over 1972 levels of 19 per cent, were reported Tuesday by Ranco Inc., a Columbus-based manufacturer of automotive parts.

Senate Election Procedure Muddled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio may elect a 19-day U.S. Senator next year. It depends on a couple of "ifs."

Will state law be changed before election?

Will an interim appointee get his name on the ballot twice and win both a short and a long term?

The situation stems from President Nixon's nomination of incumbent U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as U.S. Attorney General.

If the Senate confirms Saxbe, Gov. John J. Gilligan will have the job of naming a successor for an interim term that expires by state law on Dec. 15, 1974.

Saxbe's present term expires Jan. 3, 1975. A new six-year term beginning on that date will go to the winner of the November, 1974, general election.

Gilligan's appointee would be out of office Dec. 14, 1974. The newly elected senator wouldn't take office until Jan. 3, 1975, leaving a senatorless gap.

If Saxbe's interim successor also wanted to run for the 19-day term, Dec. 14-Jan. 3, he would have to win nomination in a special primary called by Gilligan prior to the general election, then have his name on the November ballot for both terms and win both.

Brown said it is risky for a candidate to have his name on the ballot two times.

"The voter may say, 'I've already voted for him,' " said Brown. "It could mean that he might win the short term and lose the big one."

If the candidate won both, of course, it would give him the obvious advantage of Senate seniority over other freshmen being sworn into the Senate for the first time in 1975.

The problem has arisen before in recent state history. In 1966 then acting state Auditor Roger Cloud went for and won a full four-year term while former Republican state Rep. Archer Reilly of Columbus won the short term and kept the auditor's office in Republican hands during the interim.

If Brown has his way the problem won't come up next year. He said he planned to offer the legislature a bill that would do away with the short term provision and let the interim appointee serve until Jan. 3.

Brown pointed out that the U.S. Constitution leaves it up to the states to decide how to fill their congressional vacancies.

Father says he is going to play to win because that's what his father did to him. The child gets very upset when he loses to his father all the time. The child loves games like Monopoly and chess. What is your opinion?

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a "Mama's boy." Willie was 35 years old when I married him, and I should have seen the signs then, but I was young and "in love" and not too sharp.

Father Should Play To Win

DEAR ABBY: Please set me straight. Do you think it's wrong for a father to allow his eight-year-old son to win once in a while?

Father says he is going to play to win because that's what his father did to him. The child gets very upset when he loses to his father all the time. The child loves games like Monopoly and chess. What is your opinion?

A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Father should play to win. But for a better reason than the one he stated. Children need to learn how to accept defeat with grace and good sportsmanship until they develop the skill to win fairly and squarely.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a "Mama's boy." Willie was 35 years old when I married him, and I should have seen the signs then, but I was young and "in love" and not too sharp.

Every Sunday of our married lives, no matter what we were doing, at 2 p.m. Willie would leave me and the children, and go to visit his mother. Then he would come home and throw up, saying my attitude toward his mother had caused it.

When I married Willie, his mother accused me of everything in the book, so I just stayed away from her. She has told me to my face that the quicker Willie gets rid of me and our children, the better off he will be. Also, she could not die happy knowing her son is married to me.

I did leave him three years ago, but I came back after two weeks because he came crying and begging, saying he couldn't live without me. Meanwhile he never told his mother we had reunited, but was forced to when she decided to move in with him.

Willie still calls her every morning, and visits her every evening after work. I am tired of Willie's running to her every Sunday at 2 p.m. and coming home to throw up.

Can you help me?

HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Your husband needs help. But from your description of him and his sick attachment to his mother (who also needs help) I doubt that he will seek it. In the meantime, your Family Service Association can provide you with the kind of counseling you need to understand, and hopefully handle, your Mama's boy.

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been running to doctors all her life. Her complaints run from chronic stomach trouble, migraine headaches, high blood pressure, back trouble, to a variety of skin trouble. (Shingles, eczema, psoriasis, and you name it.) To make a long story short, my mother has become a self-appointed "expert" on everything pertaining to medicine and treatment. She doesn't hesitate to give out medical advice to her friends, and worse yet, she has a pill or ointment for everything.

When I tell her that she could cause more harm than good by giving her friends pills and salves, she says: "Relax, you need a tranquilizer," then she tries to force one on me.

Will YOU please tell her to quit practicing medicine and pharmacology without a license? Thanks.

THE "DOCTOR'S" DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: I'll tell her, but I can't guarantee a cure.

Program For Monday Club Concerns Power Of Women

Mrs. Wallace Higgins presided over the November meeting of Monday Club held recently in the meeting room of Pickaway County Historical Society.

Two invitations were read — one to a reception at Proctorville from the Junior Women's Club to commemorate its 30th anniversary and the second from Circleville Junior Women's Club to celebrate its 25th anniversary. Reservations for the latter should be made to Mrs. Jean Holycross by Nov. 29th.

Mrs. George Barnes read the 1973-74 budget and Dr. Mary Holman reminded members of the white elephant gift exchange in December.

Mrs. John Davis presented the program entitled "Woman Power; Pet, Puppet, Peer." She spoke of equal rights for women and the activities that have characterized the movement. A rebellion that has become massive may make vast changes in our society. It may overshadow the black revolution and the student protests which dealt with minorities for this movement involves a majority of 51 per cent.

She mentioned discrimination in our country contrasting with opportunities in foreign countries. Women are capable of a great deal more than family life and with more equal opportunities a new person may emerge.

Mrs. Davis concluded the program with a movie entitled "Women's Liberation" by Marlene Sanders, an ABC news correspondent, which shows a broad coverage of what women in the movement feel, what they want and how they plan to get it.

Kingston WSCS Name Is Changed

The Rev. Pearl Casto and members of the Isabella Thoburn Circle were guests of the Kingston Womens Society of Christian Service at the Celebration held Wednesday evening at the Kingston United Methodist Church.

Purpose of the meeting was to change the name to United Methodist Women. As each woman arrived at the Parish Hall she was presented with a leaf name card and a balloon with expressions of hope, celebration and happiness, written on them.

A short time was allotted for mixing and getting acquainted, after which all retired to the sanctuary for the Service of Celebration.

"How Great Thou Art" was the organ prelude selected by Mrs. Barry Bennett, organist.

Mrs. Helen Knece, president, opened the meeting with a welcome and reading of Romans 12-15. Remembering the past and memorial service was given by Mrs. Nona Hankins, with all joining in singing "Amazing Grace."

Members of both groups participated in a ceremony around a cross and a living flame which is a replica of the emblem of the United Methodist Women.

Installation of the new officers was conducted by Rev. Casto, minister, and concluded with singing "Are you Able". Mrs. Knece gave the benediction, after the members read in unison the Statement of Purpose of the new organization.

A fellowship period in the Parish Hall followed the Celebration. Mrs. Helen Knece and Mrs. Nona Hankins hostesses, presided at the tea table arranged in fall colors and centered by a cake decorated with the emblem of the United Methodist Women.

Yoga Demonstrated To Saltcreek Club

A program concerning Yoga highlighted the November meeting of Saltcreek Town and Country Club held in the home of Mary Ann Justice in Whisler. Co-hostess was Janice Jones.

A special guest for the evening, Mrs. Richard Jones, introduced Mrs. Cletus Rudolph of Columbus, a former YMCA Yoga instructor. Mrs. Rudolph explained the different aspects of Yoga and gave a demonstration in which club members participated.

Rena Boldoser led members in the Pledge to the Flag and the club pledge. Thirteen members answered roll call and the newest member, Mrs. Richard Fugitt, Route 4, Circleville was welcomed.

Thank you notes from the Leonard Hardman family and Steve Jones were acknowledged.

The club will be selling note cards and related items as a money making project. They will also serve lunch at Bowling Stock Yards on Nov. 21st.

The next meeting will be Dec. 11th in the home of Peggy Jones with Mary Lou Maxson and Thelma Williams as co-hostesses. There will be a gift exchange in addition to the traditional donation to veterans. The program will be a demonstration of wigs.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close of the meeting.

Daughters Of American Colonists Has Program On 'November Novelty'

"Would that each of us could say, as did the great Ohioan Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, 'Thank God I have given my best to this land that has given so much to me' ". This challenge was made by "Mrs. Hershel Dunmire, vice regent of the Ohio Society Daughters of American Colonists, when she spoke to members of Old Trails Chapter, at a luncheon meeting recently at Shades Restaurant, Canal Winchester.

Mrs. Dunmire's presentation was aptly titled "A November Novelty." To illustrate various points, the speaker used original poetry, music, illustrative pictures and posters. The ringing of a bell similar to those used in one room schools and singing "School Days, School Days" set the stage for the remainder of the program.

Holidays celebrated in November was one segment covered by the speaker. Members were reminded of the Resolution passed by the Ohio Society urging the return of Armistice Day commemoration to the actual day, Nov. 11. World War I melodies "There's A Long Long Trail" and "Til We Meet Again" illustrated this item.

Thanksgiving, a totally American holiday, could not have become a time of gratitude and feasting had it not been for the American Indian who provided potatoes, pumpkins and turkeys for the occasion. Mrs. Dunmire continued. Nursing Scholarships for American Indians are a special project of the President of the National Society Daughters of American Colonists. Mrs. Ronald M. James of Tucson, Ariz. The poem "Make Me A Blessing" and musical selection "By The Waters Of Minnetonka" were used as illustrations.

In conclusion, Mrs. Dunmire featured poster size color photographs of noted paintings as she read the meaningful lyrics of the hymn "America The Beautiful" authored by Katherine Lee Bates and played the stirring melody on the piano.

Mrs. Martin W. Cromley, regent, presided for the business session which was opened with devotions by the chaplain, Mrs. E. James Rapp, who concluded with a silent prayer in memory of Mrs. Clarence W. Rowles of Pleasantville. "The Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag" was led by Mrs. J. Leroy Frazier. "Pro-America" was the topic selected by Mrs. Loren P. Shaw, National Defense chairman.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Verne R. Silbaugh, Mrs. Audley J. Cassidy, Mrs. Marshall H. Francis and Mrs. Thomas Maidens.

Daughters Of American Colonists Has Program On 'November Novelty'

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD BUMGARNER

50th Wedding Anniversary Celebration Is Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner of Ashville will be honored Dec. 2nd with an open house celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple was married Dec. 1st, 1923 in the parsonage of Circleville Trinity Lutheran Church with the late Rev. George J. Troutman officiating.

Friends will be greeted from 2-5 p.m. in the Parish Hall of St. Paul Lutheran Church located four and one-half miles northeast of Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bumgarner have one daughter, Mrs. Lawrence (Dorothy) Carle, Route 2, Circleville and two sons, Richard G. Bumgarner of Circleville and Carl E. Bumgarner of Ashville. They also have 17 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Bill Dountz Speaks To Ashville Club

Ashville Suburban Child Study League held its November meeting in the home of Susan Haynes with Bonnie Remy as co-hostess.

Guest speaker was Bill Dountz, Community Relations Representative for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. Films were shown on drugs with a very informative question and answer period following.

Each member donated canned goods which will be given to a needy family in the community for Thanksgiving dinner. Usable toys are being collected as a Christmas project for needy children and Christmas decorations are being sold as a fund raising project for the club.

Susan Haynes, Bonnie Remy and Gay Henson attended the state convention held recently in Toledo. They discussed with club members the highlights and a few humorous things that happened on their trip. Dr. George Crane, famous author and professor, was guest speaker at a dinner. His lecture concerned the do's and don'ts of married life.

The next meeting will be held 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11th, in the home of Gay Henson.

Mrs. Donald Watt Attends Luncheon

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, member of Lucas Sullivan Chapter United States Daughters War of 1812, attended a brunch meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. H. R. Lee, Glemont Ave., Columbus with Mrs. Joseph Linn Colburn as co-hostess.

As state chairman of the veteran's rehabilitation program, Mrs. Watt was in charge of the program. She donated one of her stylized holiday wreaths for which chances were sold with the proceeds added to the chapter's 75th anniversary fund.

Concluding the program, personal gifts for the Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe, were wrapped in holiday style.

"Would that each of us could say, as did the great Ohioan Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, 'Thank God I have given my best to this land that has given so much to me' ". This challenge was made by "Mrs. Hershel Dunnire, vice regent of the Ohio Society Daughters of American Colonists, when she spoke to members of Old Trails Chapter, at a luncheon meeting recently at Shades Restaurant, Canal Winchester.

Mrs. Dunnire's presentation was aptly titled "A November Novelty." To illustrate various points, the speaker used original poetry, music, illustrative pictures and posters. The ringing of a bell similar to those used in one room schools and singing "School Days, School Days" set the stage for the remainder of the program.

Holidays celebrated in November was one segment covered by the speaker. Members were reminded of the Resolution passed by the Ohio Society urging the return of Armistice Day commemoration to the actual day, Nov. 11. World War I melodies "There's A Long Long Trail" and "Til We Meet Again" illustrated this item.

Thanksgiving, a totally American holiday, could not have become a time of gratitude and feasting had it not been for the American Indian who provided potatoes, pumpkins and turkeys for the occasion, Mrs. Dunnire continued. Nursing Scholarships for American Indians are a special project of the President of the National Society Daughters of American Colonists, Mrs. Ronald M. James of Tucson, Ariz. The poem "Make Me A Blessing" and musical selection "By The Waters Of Minnetonka" were used as illustrations.

In conclusion, Mrs. Dunnire featured poster size color photographs of noted paintings as she read the meaningful lyrics of the hymn "America The Beautiful" authored by Katherine Lee Bates and played the stirring melody on the piano.

Mrs. Martin W. Cromley, regent, presided for the business session which was opened with devotions by the chaplain, Mrs. E. James Rapp, who concluded with a silent prayer in memory of Mrs. Clarence W. Rowles of Pleasantville. "The Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag" was led by Mrs. J. Leroy Frazier. "Pro-America" was the topic selected by Mrs. Loren P. Shaw, National Defense chairman.

Serving as hostesses were Mrs. Verne R. Silbaugh, Mrs. Audley J. Cassidy, Mrs. Marshall H. Francis and Mrs. Thomas Maidens.

Washington said local talks so far have been encouraging. "I think there's a good possibility for an agreement," he said. "The indications are that they're going to move on some things that are important to us." Washington said he had only limited discussions with members on the national agreement, but he said the response he did get was generally favorable.

Exchange Shaken By Energy Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — To many Americans it may seem only a dark cloud on the horizon. But to those who make their living on Wall Street, the energy crisis already has brought a deluge of trouble.

Since Oct. 26, the stock market has suffered one of its sharpest declines ever, inflicting paper losses estimated at more than $100 billion. Market experts agree the slide is a result of investors' fears that scarcities of energy will derail economic growth across the country in the months and years ahead.

The gloom along the narrow, crowded streets of the nation's financial capital lifted a little Wednesday as stock prices staged a moderate rally.

"This is an indication this country can survive," said Peter W. Haas, a specialist who works on the New York Stock Exchange trading floor. "A little energy crisis isn't going to slow this country down."

But his optimism was far from universal.

"This rally can't last," a clerk said as he hurried across the littered trading floor. "The energy crisis will overcome it."

Out on the street, Jesus Andros, a hot dog vendor, was glum.

"Nobody has time to buy," he said. "When the market goes down, nobody comes out to walk and eat. Yeah, the energy thing is killing me already."

A few steps away from the exchange stands Trinity Episcopal Church, a quiet contrast to the high-rise buildings packed around it.

The Rev. Robert Ray Parks, rector of the historic church, oldest in New York, said some top bankers had told him "the energy crisis and the crisis of confidence may disturb the market for the next three years."

He added: "This old church has weathered many a crisis down here."

Hughey, 459 Watt Street, participated with other American and allied troops in Exercise Reforger V in Germany, Oct. 10 to 16.

The Military Airlift Command flew approximately 11,000 U.S.-based soldiers and more than 1,000 tons of equipment to three different airfields in Germany in preparation for the event.

Immediately after arriving overseas, the Redeployed Units drew combat gear and vehicles from prepositioned storage sites in Germany and moved to the exercise area to begin the seven-day field maneuver.

Pitted against the airlifted forces were Europe-based elements of NATO forces of the U.S., Germany and Canada.

The exercise, conducted by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and NATO, focused on the procedures and techniques for receiving, equipping, assembling and employing units after they arrive, rather than on rapid deployment of troops from the U.S.

His wife, Nancy, lives at 4007 Brenthitt Ave., Columbus.

Army Staff Sergeant Jerry R. Tatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Tatman, Route 1, Laurelville, participated with other members of the 4th Infantry Division in exercise Boldfire 2-74 at Ft. Carson, Colo.

The five-day event, directed by

Army Major General John S. Lekson, director of operations of the U.S. Readiness Command, Mac Dill Air Force Base, Fla., involved defensive, delay-withdrawal, and counter-offensive ground phases as well as close air support and aerial reconnaissance.

The ground forces were furnished by the 4th Division at Ft. Carson while the Colorado and Nevada Air National Guard provided tactical fighter and reconnaissance support.

Boldfire, in addition to being a vital joint training exercise, provided a testing ground or field laboratory for examining current joint operating concepts.

Sgt. Tatman is a tank commander with Company C, 1st Battalion of the Division's 70th Armor.

His wife, Pamela, is with him at Ft. Carson.

Ironton Schools Said Overpaid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson says the Ironton City School District got $26,661.20 more than it should have from an Ohio Education Department's School Lunch Program between Sept. 1, 1970 and Feb. 28, 1973.

Ferguson said Tuesday a former clerk-treasurer, Sally Dahl Deprez, was responsible for $26,023.20 of the overpayments and another clerk treasurer, Patricia Hamilton, for the rest.

In a separate case, the auditor said Edward L. Pryce, late clerk-treasurer for the Field Local School District in Portage County, and 200 school district employees were involved in salary overpayments of $13,960.28 between Aug. 1, 1969 and Feb. 28, 1973.

Black Sea Cruise Cut By Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon quietly cancelled one of its periodic "show-the-flag" voyages into the Black Sea last month in the midst of the Middle East crisis.

The official reason for the cancellation was "operational requirements." There was no elaboration on this.

However, it appears likely that U.S.

officials may have been motivated largely by concern that the Russians might regard the presence of American warships in the Black Sea at that time as a provocation.

Ever since 1959 the United States has sent a few destroyers into the Black Sea periodically to underscore that it is not a Russian lake.

The U.S. destroyers had been scheduled to cruise the Black Sea Oct. 22-27. It was during that period that U.S.-Russian tensions were at their height because of the war between the Israelis and the Arabs.

The Russians built up their fleet in the Mediterranean to about 95 ships during the crisis, with many of the reinforcing Soviet vessels coming from the Black Sea.

With all the shortages cropping up throughout the country sooner or later it was bound to hit home—And it has.

The shortage of paper has reared its ugly head in the newspaper business and has forced us to tighten up our pages which means we will have to cut down on some of the material going onto our sports pages as well as the rest of the pages.

We deeply regret this but our pages are now about as tight as three-pound of meat in a two-pound bag.

Our policy on the sports page is to give local news first preference and it will continue to be so. However, the lack of space will mean that we will have to cut down on the size of our stories and reduce the number and size of pictures.

We have no intention of cutting out any local sports news but will have to do some editing in order to make sure that they get proper coverage.

Some of the national sports news will have to be shortened but we will endeavor to carry the highlights as best we can.

We have always felt that our local sports and athletes deserve top coverage and will continue this policy.

Our "fearless" forecast—The Tigers will top the Mustangs ... The Vikings will shoot down the Falcons.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Tiger Cagers Set For Opener

With four starters gone from last year's club, there will be new faces in the lineup of the Circleville cage squad when the Tigers open the 1973-74 season Saturday night against the Mustangs of Westfall at the Mill St. gym.

"We have a way to go and are a relatively young club," coach John Lawhorn stated. "But we've had 100 per cent effort in our pre-season work and I think we'll get better when the real thing starts. This is a good bunch of kids and with some experience and work they will develop into a solid club."

"This team will be quicker than last year's team and we should have more depth with some fine prospects moving up from our fine reserve team of last season," Lawhorn commented.

Regulars returning from the 1972-73 squad are Robin Martin, 5-foot-11, a starting guard, and partime starters Doug Radabaugh, 5-foot-11, and John Ankrom, 5-foot-11. All three seniors saw plenty of action last year and can be counted on for plenty more this season.

Also returning are Perry Hoskins, 5-

foot-11, junior guard-forward, and Kris Kline, 6-foot-2, senior center, both saw varsity action last season.

Moving into the varsity lineup from last year's reserve team, 14-4, will be: Tim McNaughton, 6-foot-1, junior forward; Harold Reed, 6-foot-1, junior guard; Kevin Wood, 5-foot-10, senior guard; Dave Bevan, 5-foot-11, junior guard; Phil Roll, 6-foot, junior forward; Brad Spangler, 6-foot-3, junior center-forward; and Frank Plescia, 6-foot, junior forward.

Moving to the varsity, from last year's freshman team, is George

Moore, 6-foot-2, sophomore center. Robin Ott, 5-foot-10, senior forward, who played independent basketball last season, returns as a member of the varsity.

It appears that lack of size and experience up front could be a problem for the Tigers but coach Lawhorn hopes to counter this with good checking off, quickness and pursuit.

Defense, which has played a big part in the success of recent Tiger teams, once again should be a strong point for the Red and Black. They will basically be a man to man defensive team but will utilize a zone press as needed.

Some good shooting up front and an experienced backcourt will be the strong points of the Tiger offense.

Coach Lawhorn singled out Washington C. H. and Miami Trace as the teams to beat in the South Central Ohio League title race.

But out of league play for the Tigers also will be a tough rough to hoe with the likes of Teays Valley, London and Bishop Wehrle furnishing some real stiff competition.

When they face the Mustangs of Westfall Saturday night at the Mill St. gym, the starting lineup will be: Robin Martin and Doug Radabaugh at the guards, Kris Kline at center and Harold Reed and Perry Hoskins at the forward posts.

Here is the complete Circleville schedule:

Nov. 24	Westfall
Nov. 30	At Washington C. H.
Dec. 7	Madison Plains
Dec. 8	At Bishop Wehrle
Dec. 14	At Greenfield
Dec. 15	Wilmington
Dec. 21	Miami Trace
Dec. 28	At Hillsboro
Jan. 5	At Westfall
Jan. 11	Washington C. H.
Jan. 12	At Teays Valley
Jan. 18	At Madison Plains
Jan. 25	Greenfield
Feb. 1	At Wilmington
Feb. 2	London
Feb. 8	At Miami Trace
Feb. 9	Hillsboro
Feb. 16	Teays Valley

CIRCLEVILLE TIGERS—Members of the Circleville High School 1973-74 varsity basketball team are: from the left, seated, Joe Burgess, trainer, Robin Ott, Kris Kline, Doug Radabaugh, Robin Martin, John Ankrom, Kevin Wood and Jerry Burgess, manager. Standing, Perry Hoskins, Frank Plescia, Tim McNaughton, George Moore, Brad Spangler, Harold Reed, Phil Roll, Dave Bevan and Dwight Plum, manager.

Redskins Blank Detroit, 20-0

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Ford wishes Detroit Coach Don McCafferty would have stayed around long enough Thursday to give the Detroit Lions "a few choice words."

He didn't. But team owner Ford filled the void with a few of his own following the Lions' 20-0 National Football League loss to the Washington Redskins.

"They just stand around and qualify for the pension plan," said Ford of his players, smiling through his anger. "Talk about a players' strike — it might be a blessing. We should vote for it."

The outcome snapped a three-game winning streak for the Lions in their annual Thanksgiving Day encounters and it was the first time they were shut out since a 27-0 loss to Minnesota exactly four Thanksgivings ago.

Quarterback Billy Kilmer tossed touchdown passes of four and three yards to Charlie Harraway and Charley Taylor in the first and third quarters for the Redskins. Harraway rushed for 107 yards in the game.

Curt Knight kicked field goals of 25 and 23 yards in each of the first two periods for the other scoring for Washington, which remains first in the National Conference East with an 8-3 record.

The Redskins playoff hopes got a decided boost when Miami beat Dallas

14-7 in Thursday's only other game. The Cowboys had been tied with Washington atop the Eastern Division.

Detroit dropped to 4-6-1 in the Central Division.

Washington's best success came on the ground. Detroit didn't have much success either rushing or passing.

In Thursday's other NFL game, the Miami Dolphins rolled to their ninth straight victory with a 14-7 decision over the Dallas Cowboys.

It was a measure of revenge for Miami, 10-1 in the American Conference East. The defending World Champion Dolphins, who have already clinched a playoff berth this year, scored their first triumph ever over the Cowboys. The Cowboys beat the Dolphins 24-3 in Super Bowl VI.

The passing of quarterback Bob Griese, Larry Csonka's running and the clutch defensive play of safety Jake Scott led Miami's success.

The loss put a crimp in Dallas' plans for the National Conference East title. The Cowboys' record dropped to 7-4 as they fell a game behind the Redskins.

In Sunday's NFL games, its Pittsburgh at Cleveland; St. Louis at Cincinnati; New York Giants at Philadelphia; Buffalo at Baltimore; Chicago at Minnesota; Los Angeles at New Orleans; New England at Houston; Kansas City at Denver; Atlanta at the New York Jets and San

Bengals' Curtis Aids Team Speed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Isaac Curtis, the Cincinnati Bengals' National Football League speed-rich rookie receiver, is paid to run in fast company.

"Those defensive backs who try to bump-and-run Isaac had better be able to run if they can't bump," warned Coach Paul Brown.

Curtis, the Bengals' No. 1 draft choice, is living up to Brown's claim that the slender 23-year-old is "the fastest man in football."

A world class college sprinter with 9.3 speed, Curtis adds a dimension to a Cincinnati club which sorely needed the deep threat.

"We picked 16th in the draft and it was between Isaac and Arizona State's Steve Holden. We went with Isaac on

The winner returned $12.60, $4.80 and $3.40. Sir Melody placed, paying $2.80 and $2.60 and Georgana Double was third for $3.60.

Court Decision Slated Over Walleye Fishing

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A common pleas court judge was expected to rule today whether a state ban on commercial fishing for walleye in Lake Erie is reasonable.

Commercial fishermen contend the ban on walleye is improper. But the Ohio Department of Natural Resources maintains harvesting could upset management of the species.

his pure footspeed—and we haven't been disappointed," Brown said.

Curtis faces his former college coach Don Coryell, who is in his rookie season with the St. Louis Cardinals, in Sunday's home contest.

"He taught me a lot. I think I learned more about football in one year with him than in three previous years at the University of California," said Curtis, who leads the team with 34 receptions.

A halfback for three years at California, Curtis transferred his senior year to San Diego State. Switched to his first love, pass-catching, he blossomed overnight as a brilliant receiver.

"He was the top-rated athlete available on our list," said Brown on Thursday. "He was the first guy we drafted to fill a skill position. In the past we went for the inside guys—the meat-and-potatoes men... linemen."

Curtis missed most of the exhibition season with a leg injury, then marked his first start with a sensational leaping pass against the Atlanta Falcons for a 32-yard touchdown.

Later, when an injury sidelined veteran flanker Charley Joiner, Curtis found action.

"We didn't want to force Isaac that fast, but we had no choice," Brown said. "We needed players after we were hit by so many injuries."

A month ago he tied a Bengals club record with eight receptions for 106 yards.

Since then he's become a key cog in Cincinnati's playoff plans. Curtis ranks fifth in the AFC in receiving.

"He gets a big play for us every game," Brown said.

"It hasn't been that big of difference from college ball," Curtis said. "Speed is always going to give you an edge." His blocking ability has amazed other Bengals.

"He's a real sticker," said linebacker Bill Bergey. "I knew he could catch, but I didn't know he could hit that hard."

With four starters gone from last year's club, there will be new faces in the lineup of the Circleville cage squad when the Tigers open the 1973-74 season Saturday night against the Mustangs of Westfall at the Mill St. gym.

"We have a way to go and are a relatively young club," coach John Lawhorn stated. "But we've had 100 per cent effort in our pre-season work and I think we'll get better when the real thing starts. This is a good bunch of kids and with some experience and work they will develop into a solid club."

"This team will be quicker than last year's team and we should have more depth with some fine prospects moving up from our fine reserve team of last season," Lawhorn commented.

Regulars returning from the 1972-73 squad are Robin Martin, 5-foot-11, a starting guard, and partime starters Doug Radabaugh, 5-foot-11, and John Ankrom, 5-foot-11. All three seniors saw plenty of action last year and can be counted on for plenty more this season.

Also returning are Perry Hoskins, 5-

foot-11, junior guard-forward, and Kris Kline, 6-foot-2, senior center, both saw varsity action last season.

Moving into the varsity lineup from last year's reserve team, 14-4, will be: Tim McNaughton, 6-foot-1, junior forward; Harold Reed, 6-foot-1, junior forward; Kevin Wood, 5-foot-10, senior guard; Dave Bevan, 5-foot-11, junior guard; Phil Roll, 6-foot, junior forward; Brad Spangler, 6-foot-3, junior center-forward; and Frank Plescia, 6-foot, junior forward.

Moving to the varsity, from last year's freshman team, is George

Moore, 6-foot-2, sophomore center. Robin Ott, 5-foot-10, senior forward, who played independent basketball last season, returns as a member of the varsity.

It appears that lack of size and experience up front could be a problem for the Tigers but coach Lawhorn hopes to counter this with good checking off, quickness and pursuit.

Defense, which has played a big part in the success of recent Tiger teams, once again should be a strong point for the Red and Black. They will basically be a man to man defensive team but will utilize a zone press as needed.

Some good shooting up front and an experienced backcourt will be the strong points of the Tiger offense.

Coach Lawhorn singled out Washington C. H. and Miami Trace as the teams to beat in the South Central Ohio League title race.

But out of league play for the Tigers also will be a tough rough to hoe with the likes of Teays Valley, London and Bishop Wehrle furnishing some real stiff competition.

When they face the Mustangs of Westfall Saturday night at the Mill St. gym, the starting lineup will be: Robin Martin and Doug Radabaugh at the guards, Kris Kline at center and Harold Reed and Perry Hoskins at the forward posts.

Redskins Blank Detroit, 20-0

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Ford wishes Detroit Coach Don McCafferty would have stayed around long enough Thursday to give the Detroit Lions "a few choice words."

He didn't. But team owner Ford filled the void with a few of his own following the Lions' 20-0 National Football League loss to the Washington Redskins.

"They just stand around and qualify for the pension plan," said Ford of his players, smiling through his anger. "Talk about a players' strike — it might be a blessing. We should vote for it."

The outcome snapped a three-game winning streak for the Lions in their annual Thanksgiving Day encounters and it was the first time they were shut out since a 27-0 loss to Minnesota exactly four Thanksgivings ago.

Quarterback Billy Kilmer tossed touchdown passes of four and three yards to Charlie Harraway and Charley Taylor in the first and third quarters for the Redskins. Harraway rushed for 107 yards in the game.

Curt Knight kicked field goals of 25 and 23 yards in each of the first two periods for the other scoring for Washington, which remains first in the National Conference East with an 8-3 record.

The Redskins playoff hopes got a decided boost when Miami beat Dallas

14-7 in Thursday's only other game. The Cowboys had been tied with Washington atop the Eastern Division.

Detroit dropped to 4-6-1 in the Central Division.

Washington's best success came on the ground. Detroit didn't have much success either rushing or passing.

In Thursday's other NFL game, the Miami Dolphins rolled to their ninth straight victory with a 14-7 decision over the Dallas Cowboys.

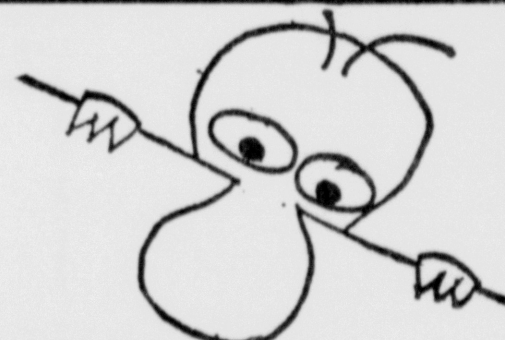

It was a measure of revenge for Miami, 10-1 in the American Conference East. The defending World Champion Dolphins, who have already clinched a playoff berth this year, scored their first triumph ever over the Cowboys. The Cowboys beat the Dolphins 24-3 in Super Bowl VI.

The passing of quarterback Bob Griese, Larry Csonka's running and the clutch defensive play of safety Jake Scott led Miami's success.

The loss put a crimp in Dallas' plans for the National Conference East title. The Cowboys' record dropped to 7-4 as they fell a game behind the Redskins.

In Sunday's NFL games, its Pittsburgh at Cleveland; St. Louis at Cincinnati; New York Giants at Philadelphia; Buffalo at Baltimore; Chicago at Minnesota; Los Angeles at New Orleans; New England at Houston; Kansas City at Denver; Atlanta at the New York Jets and San Diego at Oakland. In the weekly Monday night game, Green Bay visits San Francisco.

Alabama Swamps Louisiana State

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant was tired but jubilant after his Crimson Tide defeated seventh-ranked Louisiana State 21-7, grabbing the Southeastern Conference crown along the way.

"We're awfully happy to be getting out of here with this one," said an exhausted Bryant.

Quarterback Gary Rutledge led second-ranked 'Bama to the 500th victory of its football history, accounting for three touchdowns.

Rutledge ran 19 yards for the first Tide score in the second quarter, threw a 49-yard touchdown pass to George Pugh later that period, and hurled a touchdown pass to Wayne Wheeler, good for 77 yards, in the third quarter. A master at the Wishbone attack, Rutledge had to resort to his passing because the vaunted Alabama running game was held in check by LSU's defense.

LSU, running from the I-formation, piled up 21 first downs compared with 11 for Alabama, which only gained 191 yards rushing.

LSU netted 212 yards on the ground, 143 of them coming from tailback Brad Davis who scored the only Tiger touchdown with a 40 yard run in the final period.

Alabama's victory raised the possibility of a battle between the unbeaten in the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans on New Year's Eve. The Tide goes against Auburn next week, while Notre Dame, which defeated Air Force earlier in the day, ends its season next week against Miami before heading for the Sugar Bowl.

It was Alabama's 10th consecutive victory, and snapped LSU's 15-game home winning streak, leaving the Tigers 9-1 to close the season next week against arch-rival Tulane.

Year's night in the Orange Bowl. In other major college games Thursday, Notre Dame defeated the Air Force Falcons 48-15, the Texas Longhorns beat the Texas A&M Aggies 42-13, the Ohio University Bobcats defeated Marshall 35-21, and Southern Mississippi beat Utah State 32-8.

Nebraska is at Oklahoma Friday. Saturday, Ohio State is at Michigan, UCLA plays Southern Cal, Pittsburgh meets Penn State, Texas Tech visits Arkansas, Wake Forest is at North Carolina State, Oklahoma State meets Iowa State and Missouri is at Kansas.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, coming into the game a heavy favorite, employed the bullish running of Art Best and Eric Penick to score Coach Ara Parseghian's 19th consecutive victory over service teams since he became coach in 1964.

Best rolled up 125 yards in 11 carries, and Penick had 67 yards on 11 carries with two touchdowns. Eleventh-ranked Texas, playing the second half without injured running back Roosevelt Leaks, ground out 373 yards rushing, including three touchdown runs by quarterback Marty Akins, in defeating the Aggies.

Leaks, who already has set a Southwest Conference rushing record, left early in the third quarter when he sprained his left knee. The victory gave the Longhorns sole possession of the SWC title.

Quarterback Rich Bevely passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third in

Cavaliers Top Rockets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Rockets had just been "fouled" to death and Coach Johnny Egan was mad — really mad.

"You saw it — it was ridiculous," said Egan after the Cleveland Cavaliers were given 52 foul shots enroute to a 104-96 National Basketball Association victory Thursday.

To make matters worse for Egan, his team only got 17 free throws. "They had so many foul shots, it was really something," said Egan. "The first half, we outshot them 21-16 in field goals, but they went to the foul line 19 times to our eight."

In the other NBA games Thursday, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the New York Knicks 107-91; the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Atlanta Hawks 101-99 and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 131-125.

In the American Basketball Association, the San Antonio Spurs leading Ohio to victory in its last game of the season.

The Bobcats jumped to a 14-0 first-quarter lead over Marshall. They finish the season at 5-5.

Southern Mississippi, sparked by an opening drive of 73 yards capped by Wilson Plunkett's touchdown, rolled to a 25-0 halftime lead over Utah State. Senior halfback Noel Orange scored twice, once from the nine-yard line and once from the four.

beat the Utah Stars 92-84 and the Virginia Squires crushed the Memphis Tams 135-111.

The Cavaliers connected on 36 out of their foul shots, some of them by Austin Carr, who scored 27 points overall. Dwight Davis had 21 points and helped a fourth-quarter surge that powered the Cavalier victory.

Pete Jackson, of Chula Vista, Calif., will captain the 1973-74 Army basketball team.

China Leads Tournament

MARBELLA, Spain (AP) — The favored U.S. team of Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller, tied for fifth place going into today's second round of the World Cup Golf tournament, has a suggestion for the leaders.

"China, go home," Miller jokingly told Taiwan's Lu Liang Huan after the smiling Lu grabbed the individual leadership with a 5-under-par opening round.

Miller could do no better than a one-over par 73 on the Nueva and Alucya courses. Lu's partner, Hsieh Min-Nan, the individual winner in play at Melbourne, Australia last year, finished with a 71. But with Lu helping, they totaled 138.

Nicklaus shot 69, tied with South Africa's Gary Player, Spain's Valentin

Barrios and Fidel De Luca of Argentina for fourth.

Right behind Lu with 68 were Argentina's Roberto De Vincenzo and Thailand's Sukree Onchum. The 5-foot-2 inch Thai's score, combined with teammate Pradana Ngarmrom's par-72, vaulted Thailand into a tie for third with South Africa.

Spain tied the United States with a total of 142, one stroke ahead of Japan.

A total of 52 Michigan State football players have seen action in the annual East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The Laurel Valley Country Club in Ligonier, Pa., will be the scene of the 1975 Ryder Cup golf matches.

Jim Godman Leads Bowling Tournament

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Godman, Lorain, Ohio, lost some ground Thursday night in the Brunswick World Open Bowling Tournament, but still took a healthy lead into today's final two eight-game blocks of match play to determine the five finalists in the $100,000 event.

Godman, who held a lead of 206 pins when the 64-man quarter-finals field was trimmed to 24 men earlier in the day, came out of the opening set of match games with a 180-pin advantage, despite dropping three of his games and shooting a subpar 1,585.

2 Trainmen Die In Indiana Crash

WYATT, Ind. (AP)—Rescue units worked through the night to free the bodies of two dead trainmen, pinned in the wreckage of a Norfolk & Western diesel that crashed into seven grain cars parked on a siding.

"The two were trapped in the wreck," said Detective Sgt. Richard Heyde. "It probably will be sometime early today before they are freed."

Two other crewmen suffered minor injuries and two others in the caboose were uninjured. All six were from Montpelier, Ohio.

St. Joseph County officials said the 140-car westbound freight, en route to Chicago, left the main track about 35 miles per hour. The three-engine train bulldozed under a 100-ton hopper car loaded with corn. Twelve of the Norfolk & Western cars derailed, as did the lead grain car.

"The force of the impact completely sheared the first engine into a pile of metal, instantly killing the engineer and fireman," Heyde told The Associated Press.

"According to written statements from other crewmen, at about the entrance to the switchpoint the emergency braking system was applied. About 15 to 30 seconds later they slammed into the rear of the grain car. The first engine completely ran under the grain car."

Heyde identified the dead crewmen as O.L. Perkins, 58, the engineer, and D.L. Liepelt, 35, the fireman.

Two brakemen, Terry D. Northrup, 25, and Mackadoo Maynard Jr., 21, were riding in the second engine and were treated at a Mishawaka hospital and released.

Two other crewmen, conductor Roger P. Shepard, 35, and flagman C.H. Manley, were uninjured.

Heyde said the train left Montpelier about 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The collision occurred about a mile east of this northern Indiana community as the train entered a switch to the Wyatt Grain Co., Heyde said.

The line remained blocked today, he said, although it "is hoped to be back in operation later today or early Saturday."

The detective said that at the time of the collision "the switch was in the open position...the reason is unknown at this time."

Heyde said the surviving crewmen reported they "heard the hiss of the emergency brakes, felt a large impact, were tossed around and...blackened out."

He said the FBI was called in "as a routine matter" to aid in the investigation of the crash.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Once upon a time . . . a princess . . . a prince . . . married . . . and they lived . . . So go many of the beloved fairy tales. Perhaps even today princes and princesses have that fairytale magic that charms. Did you watch the wedding of Anne and Mark on TV? Millions did. Are you watching the TV program, "Henry VIII and His Wives"? These re-runs, too, seem to have the magic that charms. Anticipating the interest aroused by this excellently portrayed series, we have reserved two shelves in the reference room for books about Henry, his wives, his sisters, his daughters, and his background.

Historical novels are an excellent way to make history come alive. What was Henry really like? Or Catherine of Aragon, or Anne Boleyn? Is the Anne Boleyn of Evelyn Anthony's novel of that name accurately portrayed? Or do you prefer the more romanticized Anne of Margaret Barne's "Brief Gaudy Hour." "The Concubine" by Norah Lofts presents a slightly different view of Anne as does "Murder Most Royal" by Jean Plaidy.

Margaret Barnes has written several books about the royal personages of this period. "King's Fool" is a view of the Tudor court through the eyes of William Somers, the King's jester. "My Lady of Cleves" presents Anne of Cleves as a warmhearted, intelligent woman. She wins the love of Hans Holbein, gains the respect of Henry, and the love of his children. "The Tudor Rose" is the story of Henry's mother, Elizabeth of York.

Jean Plaidy has written many excellent historical, romantic novels of this period. Her "St. Thomas Eve" by

Jean Plaidy is the story of Sir Thomas More who lost his head because he opposed the king's wishes. "The Thistle and the Rose" is the story of Henry's sister Margaret, while still a young girl was sent to the Court of Scotland to become the bride of James IV.

Those who prefer a touch of gothic mixed with their historical fiction may prefer, "The Miracle of St. Bruno's" by Philippa Carr. Philippa Carr whose real name is Eleanor Hibbert, is another pseudonym for Jean Plaidy and Victoria Holt.

Nelle Francis, who writes guest columns for us from time to time, suggests that "The Miracle at St. Bruno's" might well be read at the same time as Hilda Lewis' "I Am Mary Tudor." Mrs. Francis says, "Both are narratives of the sixteenth century. In both we have the unrest of Henry VIII—the active period—his many wives—though on a smaller scale in "The Miracle at St. Bruno's." Bruno is a fictional child, supposed to be a miracle child. Though Bruno will not admit to this, the mystery of his birth becomes well known.

Once again, as in "I Am Mary Tudor", the monasteries are robbed and destroyed by Henry's henchmen. We have the contest between the two religions—beheadings and disem-bowlements and burnings at Smithfield. The background follows the reigns of the boy king, Edward,—Lady Jane Grey—and then Mary Tudor. Very vivid and very historical. Enjoyed the historical part and find it blends well with the countryside life of the girl, Damask, her cousin, Kate, and the strong character, evil-minded Bruno. Worth reading."

Mrs. Francis, also recommends "Green Darkness" by Anya Seton. Of this she says, "A very mysterious re-incarnation novel based on personalities living during the period 1552-1559 in England, during the reign of Edward—Mary of Scotland—Elizabeth. These were hectic times, and tensions between Catholic and Calvinists were at their height. Seton portrays life in the priories, castles and manors with their customs, dressing, eating, floor rushes, and vast fireplaces.

We encounter monks, serving girls, lax morals, entertainments, feasting, witchcraft, occultism and astrology. Then we meet re-incarnated personalities from this Tudor period in 1968. Quite intriguing, mystifying, as well as a good historical narrative of that early period. Interesting reading!"

Of "Oh! Where Are Bloody Mary's Earrings" by Robert Player, she says. "It started as quite an interesting historical feature and then jumped far ahead to Queen Victoria's time. The question will always be—when were the paste jewels substituted for the real diamonds in the earrings given to Mary by Philip of Spain!"

There are many other fiction and non-fiction titles about Henry, and his time. Look on the special shelves or ask a librarian for help in finding something which will appeal to you.

Don't forget the final program 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, at the Library. Dave Craven will be talking about "Christmas Cooking."

2 Trainmen Die In Indiana Crash

WYATT, Ind. (AP)—Rescue units worked through the night to free the bodies of two dead trainmen, pinned in the wreckage of a Norfolk & Western diesel that crashed into seven grain cars parked on a siding.

"The two were trapped in the wreck," said Detective Sgt. Richard Heyde. "It probably will be sometime early today before they are freed."

Two other crewmen suffered minor injuries and two others in the caboose were uninjured. All six were from Montpelier, Ohio.

St. Joseph County officials said the 140-car westbound freight, en route to Chicago, left the main track about 35 miles per hour. The three-engine train bulldozed under a 100-ton hopper car loaded with corn. Twelve of the Norfolk & Western cars derailed, as did the lead grain car.

"The force of the impact completely sheared the first engine into a pile of metal, instantly killing the engineer and fireman," Heyde told The Associated Press.

"According to written statements from other crewmen, at about the entrance to the switchpoint the emergency braking system was applied. About 15 to 30 seconds later they slammed into the rear of the grain car. The first engine completely ran under the grain car."

Heyde identified the dead crewmen as O.L. Perkins, 58, the engineer, and D.L. Liepelt, 35, the fireman.

Two brakemen, Terry D. Northrup, 25, and Mackadoo Maynard Jr., 21, were riding in the second engine and were treated at a Mishawaka hospital and released.

Two other crewmen, conductor Roger P. Shepard, 35, and flagman C.H. Manley, were uninjured.

Heyde said the train left Montpelier about 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The collision occurred about a mile east of this northern Indiana community as the train entered a switch to the Wyatt Grain Co., Heyde said.

The line remained blocked today, he said, although it "is hoped to be back in operation later today or early Saturday."

The detective said that at the time of the collision "the switch was in the open position...the reason is unknown at this time."

Heyde said the surviving crewmen reported they "heard the hiss of the emergency brakes, felt a large impact, were tossed around and...blacked out."

He said the FBI was called in "as a routine matter" to aid in the investigation of the crash.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Once upon a time... a princess... a prince... married... and they lived... So go many of the beloved fairy tales. Perhaps even today princes and princesses have that fairytale magic that charms. Did you watch the wedding of Anne and Mark on TV? Millions did. Are you watching the TV program, "Henry VIII and His Wives"? These re-runs, too, seem to have the magic that charms. Anticipating the interest aroused by this excellently portrayed series, we have reserved two shelves in the reference room for books about Henry, his wives, his sisters, his daughters, and his background.

Historical novels are an excellent way to make history come alive. What was Henry really like? Or Catherine of Aragon, or Anne Boleyn? Is the Anne Boleyn of Evelyn Anthony's novel of that name accurately portrayed? Or do you prefer the more romanticized Anne of Margaret Barne's "Brief Gaudy Hour." "The Concubine" by Norah Lofts presents a slightly different view of Anne as does "Murder Most Royal" by Jean Plaidy.

Margaret Barnes has written several books about the royal personages of this period. "King's Fool" is a view of the Tudor court through the eyes of William Somers, the King's jester. "My Lady of Cleves" presents Anne of Cleves as a warmhearted, intelligent woman. She wins the love of Hans Holbein, gains the respect of Henry, and the love of his children. "The Tudor Rose" is the story of Henry's mother, Elizabeth of York.

Jean Plaidy has written many excellent historical, romantic novels of this period. Her "St. Thomas Eve" by

Jean Plaidy is the story of Sir Thomas More who lost his head because he opposed the king's wishes. "The Thistle and the Rose" is the story of Henry's sister Margaret, while still a young girl was sent to the Court of Scotland to become the bride of James IV.

Those who prefer a touch of gothic mixed with their historical fiction may prefer, "The Miracle of St. Bruno's" by Philippa Carr. Philippa Carr whose real name is Eleanor Hibbert, is another pseudonym for Jean Plaidy and Victoria Holt.

Nelle Francis, who writes guest columns for us from time to time, suggests that "The Miracle at St. Bruno's" might well be read at the same time as Hilda Lewis' "I Am Mary Tudor." Mrs. Francis says, "Both are narratives of the sixteenth century. In both we have the unrest of Henry VIII—the active period—his many wives—though on a smaller scale in "The Miracle at St. Bruno's." Bruno is a fictional child, supposed to be a miracle child. Though Bruno will not admit to this, the mystery of his birth becomes well known.

Once again, as in "I Am Mary Tudor", the monasteries are robbed and destroyed by Henry's henchmen. We have the contest between the two religions—beheadings and disembowlements and burnings at Smithfield. The background follows the reigns of the boy king, Edward—Lady Jane Grey—and then Mary Tudor. Very vivid and very historical. Enjoyed the historical part and find it blends well with the countryside life of the girl, Damask, her cousin, Kate, and the strong character, evil-minded Bruno. Worth reading."

Mrs. Francis, also recommends "Green Darkness" by Anya Seton. Of this she says, "A very mysterious re-incarnation novel based on personalities living during the period 1552-1559 in England, during the reign of Edward—Mary of Scotland—Elizabeth. These were hectic times, and tensions between Catholic and Calvinists were at their height. Seton portrays life in the priories, castles and manors with their customs, dressing, eating, floor rushes, and vast fireplaces.

We encounter monks, serving girls, lax morals, entertainments, feasting, witchcraft, occultism and astrology. Then we meet re-incarnated personalities from this Tudor period in 1968. Quite intriguing, mystifying, as well as a good historical narrative of that early period. Interesting reading!"

Of "Oh! Where Are Bloody Mary's Earrings" by Robert Player, she says. "It started as quite an interesting historical feature and then jumped far ahead to Queen Victoria's time. The question will always be—when were the paste jewels substituted for the real diamonds in the earrings given to Mary by Philip of Spain!"

There are many other fiction and non-fiction titles about Henry, and his time. Look on the special shelves or ask a librarian for help in finding something which will appeal to you.

Don't forget the final program 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, at the Library. Dave Craven will be talking about "Christmas Cooking."

Next Season Promises To Be Good One

By MARGARET MERRILL

"It was a season filled with some frustrations, but it was also one filled with many bright spots, particularly because we were able to play a lot of young people who will be returning," commented Coach Larry Cook as the 1973 football season ended. According to Coach Cook, strength this season came from a very aggressive defense and good competition from the sophomores and juniors for starting positions.

Coach Cook feels that the weaknesses of the team were inconsistency in offense and defense and too many major turnovers. But in the last four games, Circleville played like true Tigers, he said.

"The most emotional game of this season was the Washington C. H. game. The best defensive game was Hillsboro and offensive was Hamilton Township," stated Coach Cook.

During the off-season, Coach Cook and company are still busy. Off-season training will begin Jan. 2, 1974, for all those not in winter sports. It will be three nights a week, consisting of weight training, anagility and quickness program, and an endurance program. During the winter the coaches attend football clinics and coaches' meetings. They also purchase new equipment.

Final statistics are totalled. Eddy Richter led the team with most points scored-72, most times carried-173, most net yardage gained-762, for an average of 4.4 per carry. Eddy also had 54 tackles.

Reggie Radcliff led the Tigers in most tackles with 85 although he was out for the last three games with a broken leg. Keith Davis ran a close second with 82 tackles.

The future looks bright because there will be a lot of experienced players and depth in defense and offense. Also there are a number of good freshmen coming up from the freshmen squad, which ended their season 7-0.

"I'm anxious for next season to begin," said Coach Cook, as he is already beginning plans for the new squad.

Key Club Plans Year's Projects

By SHERRI SMITH

Dick Huskey is this year's president of Key Club. Other officers include Dave Harman, vice president; Rick Bumgarner, secretary; and Scott Simpson, treasurer. The club's advisor is Mr. John Edgar.

Key Club participates in many service projects throughout the year. They have prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a poor family and will also prepare one for the Christmas holiday. Also they are planning to purchase new American flags for the school and plant flowers and shrubs on the school grounds.

Later this year, they will help the Stooze Club purchase foam padding for the pits of the pole vault and high jump used by the track team. They also hope to buy mirrors for the boys' restrooms.

One of their money-making projects is selling concessions at all the home basketball games.

Their meetings are held on Wednesday mornings at 7:30 in the home economics room. After meetings they enjoy donuts before starting a regular school day.

BEST OF FRIENDS—Jo Myers is shown with her unusual pet, Xenia. The skunk was winner of the most unusual pet award at the Pumpkin Show and plans to further its educational standing in the fall when Jo and Xenia attend Denison University.

New Pet Is A Real Stinker

By Rick Bumgarner

There is a popular belief that dog is man's best friend. But Jo Myers, senior, has struck a fatal blow to this well-established saying by buying her own pet, a skunk named Xenia.

Jo resides at 560 Lawnwood Court with her parents Dr. and Mrs. William Myers, brothers John and David, and sister Ann who is away at college.

Xenia is the result of a mail order Jo sent to Wisconsin from a catalogue advertisement. The skunk won the most unusual pet award in the pet parade at the Circleville Pumpkin Show as it paraded on Jo's shoulder with the Tigerette drill team.

The six-month-old skunk is kept in a wire cage in the Myers' backyard. But if indoor protection is needed, Xenia is trained just for the occasion.

Jo considers the care of her pet a great challenge. This is especially true considering the fact that the skunk is only partially descended. It eats dry cat food, but every now and then Xenia gets a special snack of Fritos. "Keeping the cage clean is the hardest part of Xenia's care," Jo stated.

College won't break up this beautiful relationship between girl and skunk, either. Jo said she is going to take Xenia with her when she goes to Denison University.

So if you're in the market for a pet, you may just want to follow the example set by this CHS student and buy a skunk.

Game Against Westfall Opens 1973-74 Season

By SHERRI SMITH

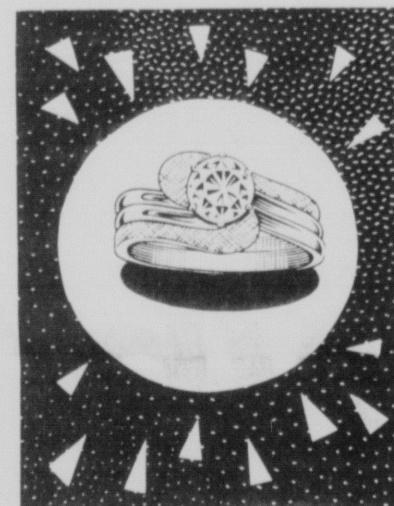

The Circleville Tigers will open their 1973-74 basketball season tomorrow night with the Westfall Mustangs here in Roundtown at 8 p.m. in the junior high gym.

Although the Tigers are a young team, Coach John Lawhorn said he is pleased with their progress in pre-season scrimmages. Last Saturday in two scrimmages against East Clinton and Greenview, the Tigers' strong points were defense and rebounding.

Potential starters for the Tigers are Robin Martin and Doug Radabaugh, guards; Kris Kline, center; and Perry Hoskins and Harold Reed, forwards. Tim McNaughton, Phil Roll, and John Ankrom are likely to see some action, according to Coach Lawhorn. Brad Spangler is the back-up center.

Coach Lawhorn commented that after observing Westfall's victory over Huntington in a scrimmage last Friday, he thinks the Mustangs are a much-improved ball club.

Predicted strengths in the South Central Ohio League this year are Miami Trace and Washington C. H.

School Recieves Belated Check For Damages

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-eight-year-old Gary Cernava rests easy now after he wrote Akron public schools a check for $300.

Many years ago, I and some others broke into Ritzman School, not once but many times. We took a lot of things and destroyed more, Cernava wrote in a letter to the school board.

Later, he and another boy shot windows at a high school with a BB gun, and he added, "There may be other things that I can't remember now, so I have thought the only thing to do is pay for the damage. I am sending $300."

Cernava's a farmer living near Jackson in southern Ohio.

"I am Christian now," he says. "And I have convictions about making things right. I kind of pushed them off, but I knew I'd never feel right until I took care of it."

Greek Youth Spearhead Outbreak

ATHENS (AP) — Six tanks stood in Constitution Square, their cannons pointed at the crowd which had surged into the center of Athens. A youth, no more than 20, ran up to one, ripped open his shirt and shouted: "Strike here ..."

The crowd cheered. In challenging the tank, the defiant youth was a symbol of the student revolt that shook the Greek capital last week and prompted strongman President George Papadopoulos to declare martial law.

Reporters who witnessed the week's events agree the overwhelming majority of those involved were under 30, many of them high school and university students and young laborers. Thirteen persons died in the fighting which at its height touched virtually every square in Athens and left rubble in most streets in the heart of the city.

Reaction to the rampaging students has been mixed.

"Many do not support them," said a 58-year-old university instructor. "They are being used as cannon fodder in the interests of the old political world, people who themselves had suppressed resistance and thrown persons into jail."

But a 35-year old taxi driver said, "Most people feel admiration for their cause and their materially unrewarding resistance. They have given their blood and hope. But I am embarrassed to admit I would not join them now. I have my work and my family."

The student revolts puzzle the regime which took power in a 1967 military coup. Government officials say privately that most of the students matured under their rule and their text books bear its symbol, a phoenix and a bayonet-bearing soldier.

Although the government claims to have made major concessions to the students, its propaganda in recent days has referred to the protesters as "an unhealthy minority of thugs and bums backed by the Communists." Universities have been closed and student associations disbanded.

In response there is continued and vocal defiance.

"Those who talk about our material well-being miss the point completely," said a woman law student. "This present revolt is primarily a revolt of intellect because the regime insults the intellect. Their false moralizing and attempt to pose as being free of corruption and violence leaves us unconvinced."

A 24-year-old engineer said: "If there were some fanatics among the organizers last week, there will be many more the next time."

FBI Silent About Rebozo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an oft-stated policy of candor, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says the agency will tell the public nothing about a Miami FBI agent's contacts with President Nixon's friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Kelley directed Tuesday that the agency refuse answers to several key questions which could either support or contradict an account Nixon has given a group of Republican congressmen.

At Kelley's order, FBI spokesmen say they will not answer the questions because of the confidentiality of a Senate Watergate committee staff interview with the agent, Kenneth W. Whittaker, who is in charge of the Miami office.

But Robert Franck, assistant FBI director in charge of the external affairs division, said the committee had not requested the FBI to keep silent about Whittaker's contacts with Rebozo.

W. Mall Smith, a spokesman for committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., said he was amazed that the FBI would cite the committee staff interview as a reason for refusing to answer questions about the situation.

Franck said the fact that Nixon himself first mentioned the episode does not alter Kelley's decision for secrecy.

At a Friday meeting with the congressmen, Nixon spoke about the $100,000 political contribution given to Rebozo for the Nixon campaign by industrialist Howard Hughes. Rebozo has said he received the money in 1970 and kept it in a safe deposit box until returning it last June.

Surgeon Recalls Tragic Dallas Day

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Malcolm O. Perry, the surgeon who tried to save President John F. Kennedy 10 years ago, wishes now he could reclaim a few words he spoke shortly after Kennedy died.

"I was pretty naive," Perry said recently of his statement about the neck bullet wound at a tumultuous press conference at Parkland Hospital. His words have led to endless speculation about how the President was killed and whether there was more than one assassin.

In a recent interview in his office at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, which adjoins Parkland, Perry recalled the events of Nov. 22, 1963.

"I was in the hospital cafeteria preparing to make bedside rounds when we heard an emergency room page for Dr. Tom Shires, the chief surgeon. This was unusual, so we made a call to check. We were told that the President was being brought in. Dr. Shires was in Galveston giving a paper, so we rushed to the emergency room."

At that point, Perry said, the President was gasping as he lay on his back on a stretcher, and Dr. James Carrico, on duty in the emergency room, was inserting a tube in his throat.

Youngstown Awarded Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The City of Youngstown has been awarded a $228,897 federal grant to establish a senior citizen nutrition program, Gov. John Gilligan announced Tuesday.

Under the program, which starts in January, about 650 hot noon meals will be served each day in eight locations in Mahoning County. The program will be administered by the Community Corp. of Youngstown.

"It was clear that an airway was needed," Dr. Perry recalled. "I made an incision through the bullet wound in the front of the neck and performed a tracheostomy."

The incision through the wound deformed the original bullet hole, which was about at the point where a tie is knotted. The Warren Commission, later ruling that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin, termed this an "exit wound." Oswald was positioned in a building to the rear of the Kennedy motorcade.

However, in speaking to newsmen shortly after the President had died, Perry recalled, he said the wound in the front of the neck "appeared to be an entrance wound."

"Did you say 'entrance wound?'" a reporter asked.

"Yes, entrance wound," Dr. Perry said.

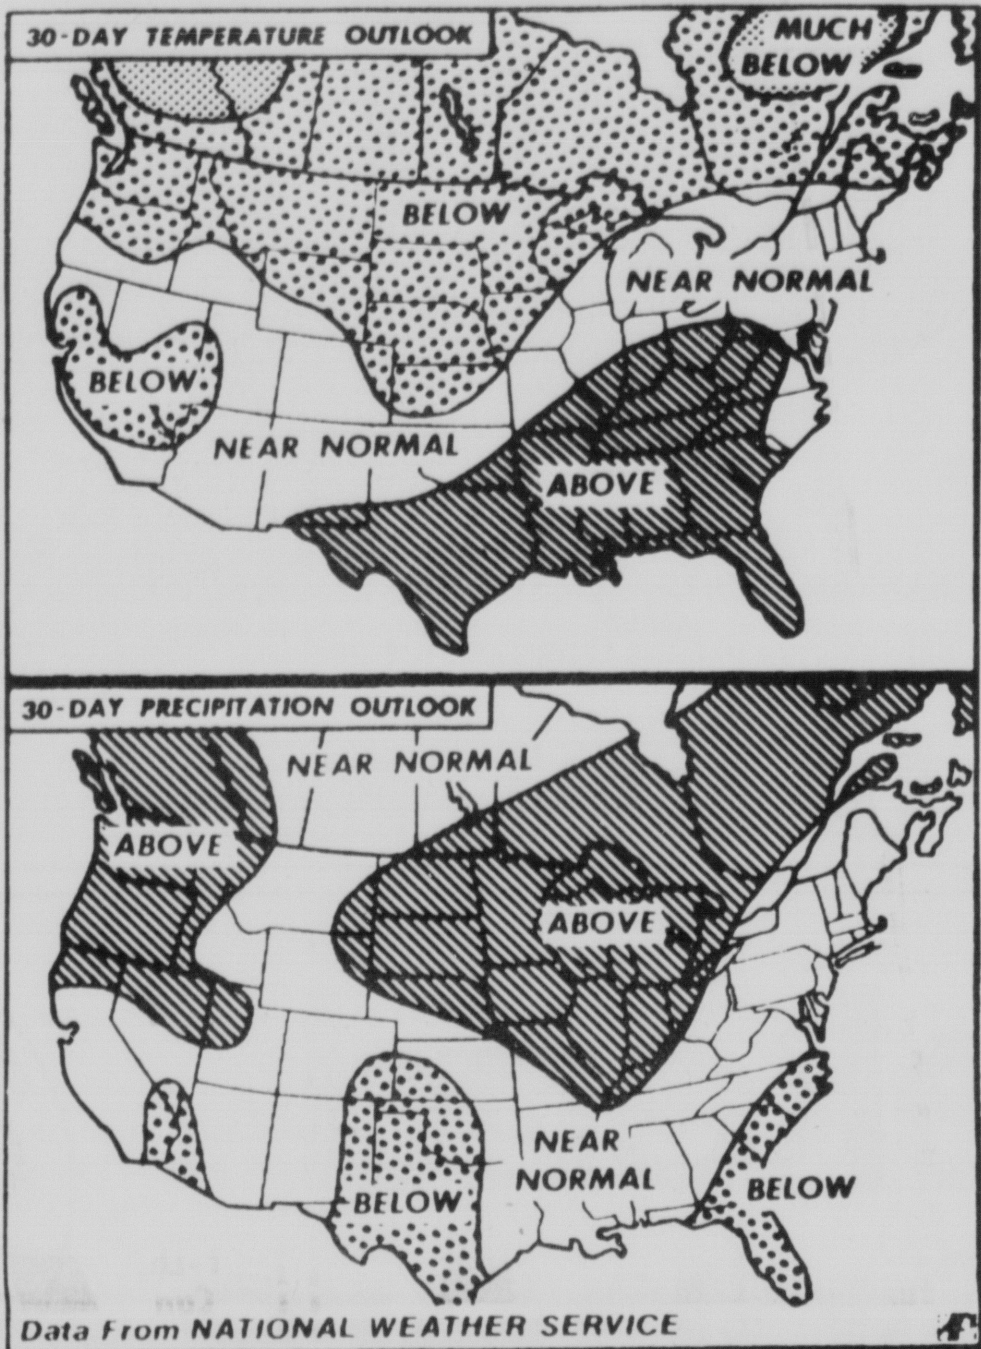

This latter statement appeared definitive when it was not intended to be, and has led to suspicions about why an entrance wound later became an official exit wound.

"I never had time to really look at the wound," Perry said in the recent interview. "The procedures were automatic. I never thought about the legal aspects when I made the cut."

"Now I wish I didn't say anything," he said with a rueful smile. "I know better now. Everybody there (at the hospital) should have gotten together on a statement."

"But I still wouldn't change anything. I could only report what I saw. I just tried to answer as honestly as I could. I don't know how many bullets struck Mr. Kennedy. I don't know any more about it now than I did then."

Perry, now a full professor of surgery, avoids reading or talking about the events of Nov. 22, 1963. "I have stayed away from it," he said. "Frankly, it depresses me. I don't care to go over it. I don't read the books."

FBI Silent About Rebozo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an oft-stated policy of candor, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says the agency will tell the public nothing about a Miami FBI agent's contacts with President Nixon's friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Kelley directed Tuesday that the agency refuse answers to several key questions which could either support or contradict an account Nixon has given a group of Republican congressmen.

At Kelley's order, FBI spokesmen say they will not answer the questions because of the confidentiality of a Senate Watergate committee staff interview with the agent, Kenneth W. Whittaker, who is in charge of the Miami office.

But Robert Franck, assistant FBI director in charge of the external affairs division, said the committee had not requested the FBI to keep silent about Whittaker's contacts with Rebozo.

W. Hall Smith, a spokesman for committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., said he was amazed that the FBI would cite the committee staff interview as a reason for refusing to answer questions about the situation.

Franck said the fact that Nixon himself first mentioned the episode does not alter Kelley's decision for secrecy.

At a Friday meeting with the congressmen, Nixon spoke about the $100,000 political contribution given to Rebozo for the Nixon campaign by industrialist Howard Hughes. Rebozo has said he received the money in 1970 and kept it in a safe deposit box until returning it last June.

Surgeon Recalls Tragic Dallas Day

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Malcolm O. Perry, the surgeon who tried to save President John F. Kennedy 10 years ago, wishes now he could reclaim a few words he spoke shortly after Kennedy died.

"I was pretty naive," Perry said recently of his statement about the neck bullet wound at a tumultuous press conference at Parkland Hospital. His words have led to endless speculation about how the President was killed and whether there was more than one assassin.

In a recent interview in his office at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, which adjoins Parkland, Perry recalled the events of Nov. 22, 1963.

"I was in the hospital cafeteria preparing to make bedside rounds when we heard an emergency room page for Dr. Tom Shires, the chief surgeon. This was unusual, so we made a call to check. We were told that the President was being brought in. Dr. Shires was in Galveston giving a paper, so we rushed to the emergency room."

At that point, Perry said, the President was gasping as he lay on his back on a stretcher, and Dr. James Carrico, on duty in the emergency room, was inserting a tube in his throat.

Youngstown Awarded Funds

Under the program, which starts in January, about 650 hot noon meals will be served each day in eight locations in Mahoning County. The program will be administered by the Community Corp. of Youngstown.

Dallas Day

"It was clear that an airway was needed," Dr. Perry recalled. "I made an incision through the bullet wound in the front of the neck and performed a tracheostomy."

The incision through the wound deformed the original bullet hole, which was about at the point where a tie is knotted. The Warren Commission, later ruling that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin, termed this an "exit wound." Oswald was positioned in a building to the rear of the Kennedy motorcade.

However, in speaking to newsmen shortly after the President had died, Perry recalled, he said the wound in the front of the neck "appeared to be an entrance wound."

"Did you say 'entrance wound?'" a reporter asked.

"Yes, entrance wound," Dr. Perry said.

This latter statement appeared definitive when it was not intended to be, and has led to suspicions about why an entrance wound later became an official exit wound.

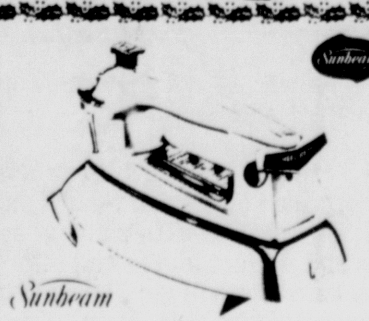

"I never had time to really look at the wound," Perry said in the recent interview. "The procedures were automatic. I never thought about the legal aspects when I made the cut."

"Now I wish I didn't say anything," he said with a rueful smile. "I know better now. Everybody there (at the hospital) should have gotten together on a statement."

"But I still wouldn't change anything. I could only report what I saw. I just tried to answer as honestly as I could. I don't know how many bullets struck Mr. Kennedy. I don't know any more about it now than I did then."

Perry, now a full professor of surgery, avoids reading or talking about the events of Nov. 22, 1963. "I have stayed away from it," he said. "Frankly, it depresses me. I don't care to go over it. I don't read the books."

Happiness is becoming a great-great grandmother for the very first time as Mrs. Bertha Porter can excitedly tell you. Her big moment came last Friday, when great granddaughter Brenda (Mrs. Steve) Holbrook gave birth to 7-pound, 14½-ounce Mindy Lee at Berger Hospital. Brenda is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter and the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Reid and the late Mr. Reid all of the Five Points area.

The Holbrooks are residents of Washington C.H. Grandmother Porter and her companion Miss Lillian Hess had the joy of being with Mindy Lee on Thanksgiving Day when the family got together. Mindy Lee and her mama were scheduled to be discharged from the hospital Wednesday and will go to Mrs. Reid's for a few days.

Paul and Florence Ormsby of Milwaukee, Wis. are in town houseguesting with Florence's sister Mrs. Rose Horch. They will be here until Saturday. Thanksgiving Day they were joined by brother "Red" Fry and

American Is Slain In Argentina

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Police suspect the assassination of American businessman John Albert Swint and three of his bodyguards by a band of youths was the work of the People's Revolutionary Army. But they have no proof.

Swint, 56, general manager of Transax, a transmission and axle plant owned by the Ford Motor Co., was killed Thursday when about 15 youths trapped his chauffeur-driven car and the following car of guards and opened up with automatic weapons and shotguns.

Police said the precision of the attack pointed to the People's Army. But at least a half-dozen other guerrilla bands roam through Argentina, including left-wing followers of President Juan D. Peron. The Marxist urban guerrillas have been blamed for much of the terrorism that has swept Argentina this year.

Swint, a native of Georgia, had served as general manager of Transax since December 1971. Ford spokesmen said his wife was in the United States. The couple has two children.

Swint was on his way to work in Cordoba, 450 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, when he found his motorcade blocked by two trucks from the front and by small cars from the rear.

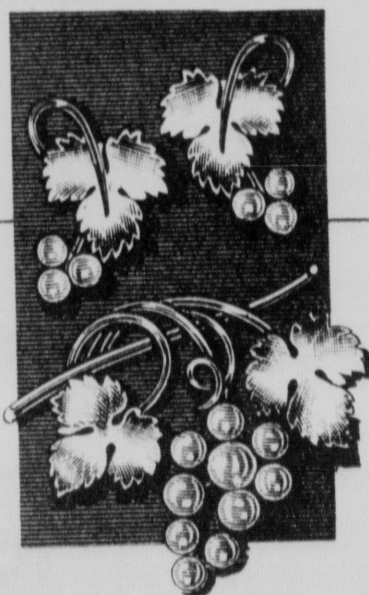

By police accounts, Swint was killed instantly and his guards were mortally wounded in the terrorists' initial fusillade. Police said a tall, blond gunman completed the job with a machine gun burst before the terrorists fled.

Public Hearings Set On Sitings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public hearings will be held Dec. 7 to review regulations to operate the Ohio Power Siting Commission.

The commission was established by the Ohio General Assembly to review plans for major power plants, electric transmission lines and gas transmission lines constructed after Oct. 24, 1974.

Already, the commission decided utilities will be required to obtain certificates of environmental compatibility before they will be allowed to build.

his mate Frances and Rose's son and daughter-in-law and grandkiddies, Bill and Marcia Horch, bright-eyed Sheryl and charismatic Kenneth.

Other plans around the town for Thanksgiving included Bill and Polly Buskirk and their Gina, Vicki and young Bill who hosted Mrs. Mary Buskirk and Miss Ida Buskirk of Circleville plus they shared their goodies with Mr. and Mrs. Okey Skaggs also of Roundtown (Polly's parents). Mr. Skaggs is quite ill and confined to his bed.

The Rev. Dick Crosby and his Marybell were with a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Phillips, David and Sandra of Oakwood for the day and overnight. Another daughter and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hitchcock of Grover Hill joined the family on the big day, also.

Harry and Emma Puffinbarger were among the noon dinner guests of Bill and Georgeann Puffinbarger and in the evening they dined with Paul and "Peg" (Margaret) Fulton of Upper Arlington. Oh! those calories! Sunday dinner guests of Harry and Emma were Gene and Glenna Steinhauer and later in the afternoon they were pleased to have Dick and Sue Banks, Trent and Robbie of Columbus come 'a-calling.

Mike and Marsha McCafferty, Kelly, Kim and Kathy went to Columbus this evening to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton. They overnighted with them since Mr. Wharton was to enter Riverside Hospital on Thanksgiving Day and undergo back surgery Friday morning.

With all this, the family also has uppermost in their minds the concern for Grandma Hazel Peters who is an intensive care patient at Berger Hospital. The value of cheer cards is immeasurable as we all know, so please put cards in the mail for these two as soon as possible.

Jim and Jeanine Hamman, Cindy, J.R. and R.V. were hoping to be with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Myers of Harrisburg for an evening Thanksgiving meal.

A.J. and Jaunita Cook and Shana Wills looked forward to having Harry (Jr.) and Loretta Keller and Lana for Thanksgiving dinner guests and in the evening dad Harry Keller, Sr. "supped" with the Cooks.

George and Marilyn Lemaster, Paula, Stephanie and Joey joined the family gathering at the home of George's mother, Mrs. Mary Lemaster.

Charley and Ethel Galloway and images Dena, Brenda and Mag (Marie Annette) were with Mrs. Marvin Galloway and in the evening they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Near of Fox.

The Graffis family, John, Sue, John Monster and T-Bird made no definite plans since much depends on how hospitalized son Charles is doing. Chuckie is a patient in Room 592 at St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio.

Happiness is becoming a great-great grandmother for the very first time as Mrs. Bertha Porter can excitedly tell you. Her big moment came last Friday, when great granddaughter Brenda (Mrs. Steve) Holbrook gave birth to 7-pound, 14½-ounce Mindy Lee at Berger Hospital. Brenda is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter and the daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Reid and the late Mr. Reid all of the Five Points area.

The Holbrooks are residents of Washington C.H. Grandmother Porter and her companion Miss Lillian Hess had the joy of being with Mindy Lee on Thanksgiving Day when the family got together. Mindy Lee and her mama were scheduled to be discharged from the hospital Wednesday and will go to Mrs. Reid's for a few days.

Paul and Florence Ormsby of Milwaukee, Wis. are in town houseguesting with Florence's sister Mrs. Rose Horch. They will be here until Saturday. Thanksgiving Day they were joined by brother "Red" Fry and his mate Frances and Rose's son and daughter-in-law and grandkiddies, Bill and Marcia Horch, bright-eyed Sheryl and charismatic Kenneth.

Other plans around the town for Thanksgiving included Bill and Polly Buskirk and their Gina, Vicki and young Bill who hosted Mrs. Mary Buskirk and Miss Ida Buskirk of Circleville plus they shared their goodies with Mr. and Mrs. Okey Skaggs also of Roundtown (Polly's parents). Mr. Skaggs is quite ill and confined to his bed.

The Rev. Dick Crosby and his Marybell were with a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Phillips, David and Sandra of Oakwood for the day and overnight. Another daughter and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hitchcock of Grover Hill joined the family on the big day, also.

Harry and Emma Puffinbarger were among the noon dinner guests of Bill and Georgeann Puffinbarger and in the evening they dined with Paul and "Peg" (Margaret) Fulton of Upper Arlington. Ohh! those calories!

Sunday dinner guests of Harry and Emma were Gene and Glenna Steinhauer and later in the afternoon they were pleased to have Dick and Sue Banks, Trent and Robbie of Columbus come 'a-calling.

Mike and Marsha McCafferty, Kelly, Kim and Kathy went to Columbus this evening to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton. They overnighted with them since Mr. Wharton was to enter Riverside Hospital on Thanksgiving Day and undergo back surgery Friday morning.

With all this, the family also has uppermost in their minds the concern for Grandma Hazel Peters who is an intensive care patient at Berger Hospital. The value of cheer cards is immeasurable as we all know, so please put cards in the mail for these two as soon as possible.

Jim and Jeanine Hamman, Cindy, J.R. and R.V. were hoping to be with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Myers of Harrisburg for an evening Thanksgiving meal.

A.J. and Jaunita Cook and Shana Wills looked forward to having Harry (Jr.) and Loretta Keller and Lana for Thanksgiving dinner guests and in the evening dad Harry Keller, Sr. "supped" with the Cooks.

George and Marilyn Lemaster, Paula, Stephanie and Joey joined the family gathering at the home of George's mother, Mrs. Mary Lemaster.

Charley and Ethel Galloway and images Dena, Brenda and Mag (Marie Annette) were with Mrs. Marvin Galloway and in the evening they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford Near of Fox.

The Graffis family, John, Sue, John Monster and T-Bird made no definite plans since much depends on how hospitalized son Charles is doing. Chuckie is a patient in Room 592 at St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't cut off communication if there is even a slim chance of advancement through a meeting of minds. You are in a position to lead or follow.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Things should start picking up for you now. However, a whole new approach to an undertaking just barely started could be your best road to attainment.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): This day may bring a challenge to your adaptability. Throw in your lot with the opposition if there is no other way to achieve your ends.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Be patient if temporarily stymied in some project in which you are involved. New factors seem to be up for consideration. Keep eyes and ears open!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Influences, somewhat adverse now, suggest that you avoid antagonizing others. If necessary to assert your views during discussion, do so dispassionately.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Fine stellar influences spur incentive, stimulate good ideas—many of which may be distinctly novel. Capitalize on all during this good period.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some difficulties possible, but you can avoid most if you will keep away from excitable folks who leave you emotionally drained. Spend time pursuing a hobby that's fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Don't let friends persuade you to spend too much on entertainment. By mid-week, you'd regret it. Otherwise, all should go well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You now have a chance to create a truly great impression of yourself. Don't lose out by flouting convention or otherwise being indiscreet.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): If intuition strongly indicates, now's the time to start making concrete plans for that new venture. Don't launch until mid-week, however.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Unexpected complications may call for a sudden change in travel plans. Don't fret. Trip, as arranged, could have been disappointing.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your intuition was right. A message from someone "in the know" confirms your own beliefs. Act promptly on information received.

YOU BORN TODAY are a progressive, straight-thinking individual; an outstanding organizer, endowed with fine executive ability. You also have a talent for mediation and could excel in such fields as business-labor arbitration. As a leader in business, industry or banking, you are not only innovative, but can take past methods and improve on them until they are almost unrecognizable. You have a gift for writing and would make an outstanding journalist; could also excel at the law. Birthdate of: Spinoza, Dutch philosopher; William Buckley, Jr., writer, editor, lecturer; John V. Lindsay, mayor of New York City.

They Move To Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Slightly more than 22,000 West German workers moved to Berlin in 1972. Fifty-six per cent were men and three-fourths were under 30. One in four was married. Only 27 were blue collar, the rest white collar.

The biggest single attraction was the city's night life, museums, parks and general ambience. For 19 per cent, the deciding factor was money. Only 19 per cent took a cut in pay to come to Berlin to work. Forty-nine per cent of the men said they plan to spend the rest of their lives in Berlin.

A Reconstructed Terrible Beast

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — The Bucharest Natural History Museum has on display the only complete reconstructed Deinotherium Gigantissimum, Latin for "Gigantic, terrible wild beast."

This ancient relative of the elephant was 18 feet tall and had huge upcurving tusks. It was a scourge of southeast Europe during the Pliocene Age.

The skeleton was found at the turn of the century in the Romanian province of Moldavia by Prof. Grigoriu Stefanescu of Bucharest University.

The first commercial telephone exchange opened in January 1878 in New Haven, Conn., serving 21 customers.

Khadafy Scoffs At Mideast Truce, Wants More War

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Col. Moammar Khadafy, the youthful leader of Libya, scoffs at the six-point plan that brought a cease-fire to the October war in the Middle East. He calls it an Arab capitulation.

"If we cannot reach this aim, there is no other means but war. So war will be a necessity for peace. If it does not happen in this generation, the war situation will explode in another time, if not this year, then in other years."

At 33, Khadafy is the youngest of the Arab leaders. When he first came to

The Long Day In Dallas

By JIM BISHOP

The motorcade sped to Parkland Memorial Hospital. Agent Clint Hill climbed up the trunk. At 70 miles per hour, his body bucked a gale. Mrs. Kennedy, the wind whipping her hair against her cheeks, held the President's head firmly on her lap. Governor Connally moaned: "They're going to kill us all."

Hill looked at the President. The eyes were open. Pink parts of his brain gleamed wet on the car rug and seat. Agent Hill beat the car trunk with his fists. Mrs. Kennedy held an arm up. "I have his brains in my hand," she shouted above the roar of wind. Hill looked back toward the Secret Service car. He turned a thumb down.

Emory Roberts, Agent-in-Charge, saw the signal. He picked up the radio microphone. "Escort us to the nearest hospital," he said. "Fast, but at a safe speed." Behind him, Vice President Lyndon Johnson, with Agent Rufus Youngblood sitting on him, careened in a speeding car. There was no point in losing two Presidents in one day.

A big sign adjacent of the highway stated: "What a Way To Go." Rufus Youngblood, protecting Johnson by sitting on his face and shoulder, was uncertain whether this was a conspiracy to assassinate the heads of government of the United States—as John Wilkes Booth had once plotted against Lincoln, Vice President Andrew Johnson, and Secretary of State Seward.

"When we get where we're going," he said to Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, "you and me are going to move off and not tie in with other people." Johnson, the voice muffled, said: "O.K. O.K., partner." Parkland Hospital is a big and efficient complex. "Stat" lights were on, speakers in corridors asked calmly for surgeons, neurosurgeons and internists.

The cars skidded to a stop at the emergency entrance. On top of the School Book Depository Building, the Hertz clock read "12:33" as Lee Harvey Oswald walked down the steps, through the excitement of running policemen, and out into the street. He walked; he boarded a bus; he walked more; he took a cab to his room in Oak Cliff. There, while the landlady watched TV and said the President had been shot, he changed some of his apparel, and stuck a revolver in his belt.

In the hospital, police and Secret Service agents dogtrotted, pushing patients and nurses out of the way. Outside, Emory Roberts tried to lift the dead President from the car. Mrs. Kennedy, bending over her husband, murmured: "No." The body was gently pried from her lap.

Youngblood hustled Lyndon Johnson through the corridor. The Vice President wanted to return to the Kennedy car. "No," the Secret Service agent yelled. "We're going to another room . . ." Johnson rubbed his chest where Youngblood had sat on him. A nurse phoned that the Vice President had sustained a heart attack.

Mrs. Connally was outraged when agents dragged Kennedy out, over her bleeding husband. Agent Clint Hill removed his jacket, and draped it over Kennedy's face. He knew the man was dead. At 12:34 p.m., bells began to clang in newspaper offices around the U.S.

The President, completely covered, was on a stretcher in Trauma One with a few bloody roses on his chest and a raspberry colored hat. The Vice President was hustled into a small treatment room with white curtains. He sat with one hip on a rolling stretcher. "We don't know how big this plot is," the Secret Service repeated. "So stay where you are." Two women sat outside Trauma One and Two facing each other. "Please get a priest," Mrs. Kennedy said.

In Trauma One, a doctor was getting a flat green line on an oscilloscope. He boarded the cart and pressed rhythmically on the President's chest. Blood spurted out of the hole in his head. Other doctors started I.V.s and cut-downs.

The Bagman was lost. He, and he alone, held the briefcase with which the President of the United States could order a counterattack in a nuclear war. He was supposed to remain beside the President at all times. He would be missing two hours in an age of 30-minute wars. . .

Two Arraigned, Four Sentenced Wednesday

Two persons were arraigned from the second session of the September Grand Jury indictments in Common Pleas Court Wednesday. Completing Wednesday's docket were four persons appearing for sentencing after pleading guilty to the alleged offenses.

Jerry Lee Hill, Wilson Trailer Court, by his attorney pleaded not guilty to four charges including two counts of possession of an hallucinogen for sale, sale of an hallucinogen and using a motor vehicle for the sale of an hallucinogen. The cases are scheduled for trial 9 a.m. Dec. 19.

Bond was continued on John D. Kincaid, Columbus, who was scheduled for arraignment on a charge of larceny by trick. His attorney appeared stating the defendant was unable to appear because he was currently confined to the Franklin County Jail. Judge William Ammer continued the bond until such time the defendant can appear on the charge.

A not guilty plea was accepted by the court from the attorney for Dean Davis, 5028 W. Second St., Ashville. Davis was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. The case will be tried 9 a.m. Dec. 12.

Larry Paul Lane, Columbus, appeared for sentencing after pleading guilty to grand larceny on Sept. 20. The defense attorney recommended probation and the county prosecutor made no objection. After reading the pre-sentence report, Judge Ammer placed Lane on probation for three years with five stipulations. He must not violate any laws, must obtain and maintain employment, must pay restitution and court costs within one year, must not use alcoholic beverages or frequent places where such beverages are sold and will be under the supervision of the adult parole authority.

After reading the pre-sentence report on Arnold Ray Parsons, 29, Columbus, the court stated that probation was out of the question due to the number of cases pending against the defendant. Parsons had previously pleaded guilty to forgery in Pickaway County and has several check charges in Ross and Highland counties pending against him.

The court sentenced Parsons to 1-20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men and stated that arrangements would be made in the other counties concerning their holders before the

A weak cold front extending early today from Lake Huron to Missouri was expected to edge southward into Ohio today.

That, coupled with a low developing in Texas and moving northeast along the front promised to bring rainy weather to the Buckeye State for the weekend.

Showers spread northeast overnight into Kentucky and southern Indiana. The showers were forecast to move into southwestern Ohio this morning and over the rest of the state this afternoon. Some thundershowers were expected over southern counties.

Temperatures in the 60s were expected today, and lows tonight should range through the 40s and low 50s.

Cloudy skies, rain and the effect of the weak cold front should combine to keep Saturday's temperatures generally in the 50s.

Skies last night were clear over most of Ohio. Temperatures ranged from 38 at Zanesville to 53 at Mansfield.

sentence starts.

Gary Lee Mabra, 35, Jeffersonville, appeared on a violation of probation charge for failing to pay support for his two minor children. Mabra is $2,232.10 behind in payments and has not paid any support since January 27, 1973.

Judge Ammer explained to him that three alternatives were open to the court, extension of probation, continuation of probation or revocation of probation. Upon consideration of the situation, Ammer revoked the probation and sentenced Mabra to 1-3 years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Concurrent sentences were ordered for Harold Jamie Colter, 18, charged with grand larceny and breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling. The defense attorney recommended that the sentences run concurrently with those sentences which may be imposed in Madison County for two counts of forgery and one of grand larceny. County prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt made no objections to the recommendation of the defense counsel.

Judge Ammer sentenced Colter to 1-5 years on the breaking and entering charge and 1-7 years on the grand larceny charge and ordered the two sentences to run concurrently with each other and with those imposed in Madison County.
